156 days, during which 198 schools were visited in situ. In the case of Sub-Inspectors the demands of office work are, or ought to be, less pressing, and the minimum tour is therefore fixed at 200 days in the year. On an average each of the 178 officers employed on Sub-Inspector's work spent 204 days on tour and visited in situ 327 out of the 387 schools under his inspection, independently of the number collected and examined at central gatherings. Reviewing this branch of work as a whole, the quantity of inspection done during the year must be pronounced sufficient and satisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the activity shown by all classes of officers. Where, however, the number of schools and the area over which they are scattered is so large, it is clear that in many cases inspection must have been got through in a hurried manner, and can have done little to improve the character of the instruction given. In dealing with the proposals of the Education Commission, the Lieutenant-Governor has already accepted the conclusion that the expansion and strengthening of the inspecting agency has the first claim in point of urgency upon the Provincial finances, and in the estimates of expenditure for the coming year an effort will be made to carry this conclusion into effect. It may also be remarked here that the Director is alive to the advantages which the system of chief gurus seems to offer as an effective and comparatively inexpensive mode of strengthening the inspecting agency of the Department.

The Director concludes this portion of his report with some well-considered remarks on the desirability of periodic transfers of inspecting officers, on the functions of District Committees, on the advantages of occasional conferences of educational officers, and on the usefulness of a system of rules governing the admission of pupils to schools. On most of these points the Lieutenant-Governor, in his review of the Education Commission Report, has already expressed his opinion in favour of the policy advocated by Mr. Croft. The action taken by the Director to give effect to that policy has the Lieutenant-Governor's full consent.

7. University Education.—The number of Government colleges rose during the year from 12 to 13, the number of aided and unaided colleges remaining the same. The number of college students declined from 2,900 to 2,826, the loss in Government colleges being 87 and in aided colleges 238; while unaided colleges show a gain of 251 pupils. The marked decrease in the numbers under the head of aided colleges is due to the loss of 237 pupils sustained by the General Assembly's Institution. Apart from this special cause, it is satisfactory to find that the unaided colleges are steadily gaining popularity, and that their low fees offer special attractions to students. Of the students who by passing the Entrance Examination qualified themselves for matriculation, 86 per cent. actually entered colleges, against 90 per cent. in previous years. No special cause is assigned for this reduction, which appears to be merely an accidental fluctuation. The average cost of each student in Government colleges rose from Rs. 311 in 1882-83 to Rs. 337 in 1883-84, owing partly to increased establishment and higher rates of pay, but chiefly to decrease in the number of pupils. The increase is most marked in the case of the Hooghly College, where the average cost per pupil amounted to Rs. 275 against Rs. 178 in the previous year. This is attributed to the fact of a large number of pupils having been drawn away to the free college established by the Maharajah of Burdwan, and to the new colleges in Calcutta. Midnapore, on the other hand, shows a substantial decrease from Rs 269 to Rs. 178, Patna from Rs. 243 to Rs. 207, and Chittagong from Rs. 219 to Rs. 196.

8. The following table shows the results of the First Arts Examination of the University:—

Colleges.	Candidates examined.	Number passed in the			Total.
		First division	Second division.	Third division.
Government	507	49	106	105	260
Aided	442	20	83	91	194
Unaided	280	14	42	68	127
Teachers	51	2	1	11	14
Total	1,280	85	235	275	595

A comparison of this table with the results of 1882 shows that 51 per cent. of the candidates from Government colleges passed, against 41·8 per cent. in 1882. Aided colleges again passed 44 per cent. of their candidates, against 28 per cent. in 1882; while unaided colleges were successful in 45 per cent. against 27 per cent. in 1882. The proportion of candidates passing in the first division is higher in all classes of institutions than it was in the previous year. It gives the Lieutenant-Governor special pleasure to observe that the number of Mahomedan students who passed the First Arts rose from 7 in 1882 to 21 in 1883. This result, which, as the Director observes, is independent of the establishment of college classes in the Calcutta Madrassa, indicates an extended desire for English education among the higher classes of Mahomedans, and it is the Lieutenant-Governor's hope that it may continue to increase.

9. Out of 441 candidates, including 39 teachers, who presented themselves for the B. A. Examination of January 1884, 205, or 46 48 per cent., were successful, 29 passing in the first division, 81 in the second, and 95 in the third. These figures show a fair measure of progress as compared with the results of 1883, when the percentage of successful candidates was only 41. The Government colleges passed 50 per cent. of their candidates, against 43·8 per cent. in 1883; the aided colleges passed 48 per cent., against 40 per cent. in 1883; while the Metropolitan Institution, the only unaided college that was represented, maintained its high reputation by passing 46 per cent against 44 per cent. in 1883. Among the larger Government colleges, Hooghly was the most successful with 19 passed candidates out of 24, or 79 per cent., while Dacca stands lowest with 10 out of 36, or 28 per cent. It is explained, however, that, owing to three changes in the officer holding the post of Principal, the Dacca students had hardly so good a chance as usual. Of the aided colleges, the Free Church Institution passed 36 candidates out of 56, or 64 per cent., but only one of these passed in the first division. The statistics of the religion of candidates show that out of 21 Mahomedan students who presented themselves 12 passed,—three in the first division, five in the second, and four in the third. This satisfactory result is attributed by the Director to the measures taken in 1881 for assisting collegiate study among Mahomedans from the Mohsin Fund.

10. Out of 71 candidates for the M. A. degree, 46 went up for honours, and 25 for the ordinary degree. Thirty-five of the former and 19 of the latter were successful. Comparing the total results with those of the previous year, it appears that 54 out of 71 passed against 36 out of 74. Although the number of candidates has slightly declined, there has clearly been a substantial advance in the standard attained by those who presented themselves, and this is the best test of genuine progress. Of the successful candidates for honours, 22 were students of the Presidency College, seven of the Free Church College, two of the Sanskrit College, and two of the Metropolitan Institution. The Cuttack College and the General Assembly's College were represented in the honours' list by one student apiece.

11. Secondary Education.—The following statement shows the number of high English schools and of pupils attending them during the last two years:—

The figures for 1882-83 include eleven European schools which have been excluded from the returns for the year 1883-84. Consequently, the apparent increase of three schools shown in the statement does not accurately represent the facts, and there has been a real gain of 14 aided schools for native boys. The number of Government schools has remained stationary: two high schools at Santipore and Chittagong have been taken charge of by Municipal Boards, and a third school maintained by the Municipality of Burdwan has been returned among aided schools on the ground of its receiving a grant from the Educational Department It is hoped that the example set by these public bodies will be followed by others, and that private enterprize will, at no distant date, become an important factor in the educational system of Bengal.

12 The results of the Entrance Examination for all schools, except those for Europeans and Eurasians, are shown as follows:—

* Including two municipal schools.

The percentage of passed candidates has risen by nearly 10 per cent., but no satisfactory comparison can be made, as the returns are drawn up on different systems. Government schools passed nearly 61 per cent. of their candidates, aided schools 52·36 per cent., and unaided schools 48·68 per cent. These results are most creditable to the unaided schools, and show clearly what an important position they are beginning to occupy. The aided schools also show steady progress.

13. Among collegiate schools, the Hare and Hindu Schools, bracketed equal in point of merit-marks, occupy, as in previous years, the first place in the list, Dacca following with 75 marks against 89 gained by the two former. The Ravenshaw Collegiate School stands at the bottom of the list, but it is explained that this may be due in some measure to the difficulty which Uriya boys experience in respect of Sanskrit, which they usually take up as a second language, owing to the Uriya character not being recognized by the University. The number of first class zillah schools has fallen from 17 to 16 owing to the Howrah school having passed into the second class by reason of a temporary loss of pupils. The Beerbhoom zillah school has beaten Utterpara, for the first place, in order of merit, and Rungpore has risen, with creditable rapidity, from 17th to 8th on the list. Four Behar schools stand lowest on the list, and the comparison between their performances and those of four Bengal schools of similar size towards the top of the list is much to the disadvantage of the former. The Director attributes this state of things to the comparative inefficiency of the teaching staff in Behar, and states that radical reforms are now in progress. This is satisfactory, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that no effort will be spared to give Behar boys a fair chance of obtaining a sound education. The number of second class zillah schools rose from 8 to 10 by reason of Howrah falling from the first class and Purulia rising from the third. Howrah, Furreedpore, and Bankoora were the most successful. There were 10 third class schools against 12 in the previous year. Motihari and Deoghur stand at the bottom of the list, the former owing to changes of head-masters, and the latter to a break-down in discipline arising in part from the supposed sacredness of the town of Deoghur and the prejudices of the population, which deterred the school authorities from enforcing discipline or even collecting fees. This state of things is said to have come to an end, and a proposal is under consideration for transferring the zillah school to Doomka, the real head-quarters of the district. Aided High English schools increased apparently from 115 to 118, but in reality 12 aided schools have been added to the list. Unaided schools show a nominal decrease of 2, owing to the exclusion of European schools. On the position of these schools the Director remarks :—

Some of the best unaided schools outside Calcutta are maintained by native gentlemen of rank or wealth, and charge no fees, such as the Maharaja's schools at Burdwan and Durbhunga; but the great unaided high schools of Calcutta derive from fees alone an income sufficient not only to maintain themselves, but to contribute to the support of the college classes in some cases attached to them. The Metropolitan Institution, with 1,000 pupils in the school department, is the largest school in Bengal, and it passed 35 candidates at the Entrance examination. The Free Church Institution, with an attendance of 705, passed 28; and the Presidency school, with 666 pupils, passed 23 candidates. The City school passed 41 candidates with 645 pupils on its rolls, and the Shampukur branch of the Metropolitan Institution, with 482 pupils, passed 21 candidates. The Jagannath and Pogose schools in Dacca passed, respectively, 26 and 20 candidates.

The importance of the work done by unaided schools is strongly brought out by the fact that in Calcutta alone there were during the past year 21 schools with 8,088 pupils on their rolls, and that they passed 209 pupils for the Entrance Examination.

The Lieutenant-Governor has read with much interest the Director's remarks regarding the success attending the policy of encouraging the establishment, in places where there is already a flourishing Government school, of a school under private management. The prosecution of such a policy relieves the pressure in the overgrown zillah school, tends to reduce the State expenditure, and to foster private effort. By a rigid adherence to this policy the great schools of the Province will be restricted to moderate size, teaching and management in them will become more efficient, and thus they will furnish a high standard up to which these other schools, called into existence by a wise abstention on the part of Government, will strive to work. The substitution of efficient private schools for schools under Government management will always receive the Lieutenant-Governor's support.

14. The following statement illustrates the progress of middle English schools during the past year—

Total ...	654	41,638	653	42,737

N.B.—The figures for 1883 include European schools, while those for 1884 exclude them.

The number of Government schools has been reduced by two by the exclusion from the returns of the Kurseong school for Europeans, and the transfer of the Bhootea Boarding School to the class of high schools. The single municipal school is the Model school at Bogra, which is under departmental management, though its cost is met from Municipal Funds. Aided schools have advanced from 500 to 521, and the number of their pupils has increased from 32,223 to 34,364. The real increase, however, is greater, as eight schools for Europeans have been transferred to a separate heading. Unaided schools, on the other hand, show a net decrease of 21, some of which have been merely converted into aided schools, while others were institutions of an ephemeral character, which have collapsed with the disappearance of the conditions out of which they arose. The middle English scholarship was attended by 935 candidates from 337 middle English schools, of whom 453 were successful. Adding to these 28 students who passed the examination from schools classed as vernacular, the total number of successful candidates was 481 against 427 in the preceding year. On the general question of the gradual conversion of middle vernacular into middle English schools, the Director makes the following remarks:—

I have in previous reports pointed out that the distinction between middle English and middle vernacular schools tends to become effaced by the gradual passing over of vernacular schools to the English class. But the process of transfer and conversion is an interesting one to watch and record; and I do not propose to destroy the possibility of this by amalgamating the two classes of schools on our returns. A constant process of change is going on: upper primary schools begin to teach the next higher standard, and to be ranked as middle vernacular schools. Of these last, some year by year take up the study of English, and finally make good their claim, by success at the examination, to be ranked as middle English schools: of these last, again, some drop the teaching of English from various causes, and fall back for a time into the ranks of middle vernacular schools. These changes should be carefully noted from year to year; for in proportion as they go on with steadiness and regularity they show the elasticity of our educational system and its suitability to the varying needs of village communities.

The process of conversion will be greatly facilitated, and the organization of the schools strengthened and improved, by the adoption of more stringent rules than it has hitherto been found necessary to prescribe for the classification of English scholars in vernacular schools. In the Resolution of Government on the last report, I was asked to consider this subject. It was pointed out that the option given to the boys of middle schools to take up or abandon the study of English as they wished, English not being a compulsory subject in these schools, necessitated the keeping up of two sets of classes,—one according to progress in the vernacular, and the other according to progress in English. It was suggested that there would be a gain in efficiency if the same set of boys read together both English and the other subjects; subject, however, to the doubt whether such an arrangement would not lead to the extinction of purely vernacular schools. I have no sort of doubt that the proposed arrangement is the right one. The fundamental character of our middle system is that, whether in English or in vernacular schools, the classes are arranged according to progress in the subjects of the vernacular examination. It follows as a necessary consequence that the boys in each class who read English should read the same standard in English and not different standards; in other words, that to each vernacular class should correspond a definite standard in English, and that all boys in the class who take up English should read that standard or none at all. Otherwise the utmost confusion will result, and the work of the school will require additional masters. It is alleged that boys frequently drop the study of English for a year or more; and that when they take it up again, they must join an English class lower than that in which their vernacular class-fellows are reading. Naturally: and the only and sufficient remedy is to prevent a boy from disorganizing the school through his caprices. No boy in a vernacular school teaching English is compelled to take up English; that should always remain a matter for his own option But if he takes up English, we can at least require that he shall take it up systematically; and if he drops it at any stage he must drop it for good, unless he can privately make up his lee-way and keep on level terms with his class-fellows.

The principle here laid down by Mr. Croft has the full approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, and the necessary measures should at once be taken to give effect to them.

15. The number of Middle Vernacular Schools rose during the year from 1,079 schools attended by 59,213 pupils to 1,108 schools attended by 61,702 pupils. There was thus a net gain of 29 schools and 2,489 pupils. In dealing with this branch of his department the Director sketches the history of the Government model vernacular schools started in 1844 under the name of "Hardinge's Schools" and extended, in 1855, as "Halliday Schools," and shows how they have served as model schools in advanced and pioneer schools in backward localities, although owing to frequent transfers it is often difficult to trace them now. He goes on to point out that owing to the development of upper primary schools their relations to middle schools have been greatly altered, and that a school of the upper primary class will now be sufficient for a village which on the principles hitherto accepted would have been held to be entitled to a middle vernacular school. While, however, dispensing with Government middle vernacular schools as a means of imparting in backward places a purely vernacular education, Mr. Croft would extend their scope in another direction, and by placing them in villages selected with reference to their capacity for advancement, would utilize them as a means of spreading more widely an elementary knowledge of English and of maintaining by force of example the highest possible standard of education through the vernacular. In this view the upper primary school will serve the highest purposes of those classes who do not look beyond a vernacular education, while every middle vernacular school of standing will aim at adding an English class and at finally becoming a middle English school. Considering how rapid has been the development of the upper primary schools, the Lieutenant Governor finds no difficulty in accepting the general principles now enunciated by the Director, it being always understood that the charge will involve no additional expenditure from public revenues. There can be no question as to the widespread desire of all classes for opportunities of acquiring some knowledge of English, and it is proper that this desire should be met in all cases where the people themselves are willing to contribute for the purpose. Caution will of course be required in giving effect to the changes, and anything like a sudden reversal of the existing state of things should be avoided. Subject then to these remarks, and to the obvious condition that no middle vernacular schools should be transferred from backward to advanced villages unless upper primary schools are ready to take their place, the Lieutenant-Governor sees no objection to the Department making Government model schools do for the lower section of vernacular education what the zillah schools already do for the upper. It may be hoped that many aided middle vernacular schools will under proper encouragement follow their example.

One remarkable change is apparent on the face of this statement In all recent years the increase in the number of primary schools has ranged from 6,000 to 10,000 in the year. In 1883-84 this rapid progress has for the first time been arrested, the increase in schools being only 1,165 and in pupils 69,798. The reason is, as explained at length by the Director, that the former policy of searching out indigenous schools, and bringing them within the cognizance of the Department, has given place to one which seeks rather to place existing schools upon a stable footing, and declines to recognize schools which have only a small number of pupils or which do not sit regularly throughout the year. On this important point the Director writes thus:—

In all recent years there has been an increase of 6,000, 8,000, or 10,000 schools a year. In 1883-84 the increase, as we have just seen is less than 1 200. In only four divisions has there been any considerable addition to the list of schools, and in two there has been a marked diminution of the number. The explanation of this striking change is to be found in the discouragement which was given, in the Government Resolution on the last annual report of this department, to the further search for indigenous schools beyond the range of effective supervision. "It is not," the Lieutenant-Governor observed, "his wish to discourage the establishment of new schools in districts where their number is still small in comparison with the extent of country and population; but there can be no doubt that in many districts the development of the system of primary education has already reached, if it has not in some actually exceeded, the limit compatible with sound administration; and it is desirable that in these districts there should be no further extension for some years. The consolidation and improvement of existing schools," it was added, "should now be the main object of local officers, and the search for old indigenous schools should be generally abandoned." The relations of local officers towards indigenous schools were by these orders sensibly changed. In former years no school was too humble, no group of pupils gathered together for a few months too insignificant, to be entered in the returns. The object was to find out by detailed inquiry all the existing means of instruction. with the object, or at least in the hope, of improving them hereafter. The necessary result was that the number of schools on the returns far outgrew the limits of efficient inspection, even with all the aid that could be derived from subordinate agencies of various kinds. Under the limitations now set, the search for additional schools has been in a great measure laid aside. In some parts of the country, long known or believed to possess a large number of unregistered schools which were gradually being brought to light, the same process of discovery has gone on during the past year. In other parts, hitherto distinguished above the rest for the abundance of their schools, a distinction has now for the first time been made, with the result of excluding from the returns a large number of schools which have but few pupils, or which do not sit regularly throughout the year.

This procedure has yielded good results even during the past year, as the increase in the number of pupils show that existing schools have been better attended. The increase is most marked in Dacca, which gained 30,000 pupils, Rajshahye with 19,000, Patna with 15,000, and the Presidency with 10,000. The Government expenditure on aided primary instruction shows a further increase from Rs. 5,81,000 in 1882-83 to Rs. 6,67,330 in 1883-84, while expenditure from private sources increased from Rs. 18,50,000 to Rs. 19,54,000. The classification of primary schools into upper and lower remains unaltered. The schools of the former class have advanced from 2,214 with 75,420 pupils to 2,464 with 90,805, and those of the latter class from 60,337 with 1,016,482 pupils to 61,252 with 1,073,904 pupils. The upper primary scholarship examination was attended by 3,955 candidates from 1,465 schools, of whom 1,945 passed. In the previous year there were 4,255 candidates from 1,674 schools, of whom 2,286 passed. The apparent falling off in results is due to the exclusion, for the first time, of successful candidates from the lower departments of middle schools. If these be added, the total number of successful pupils rises to 2,560. The lower primary examination was attended by 40,706 pupils from 10,979 schools, of whom 20,011 passed, the figures for the previous year showing 16,792 successful candidates out of a total of 39,798 from 10,387 schools. A comparison of these results with the statistics of 1876-77, when 3,110 schools sent up 11,462 candidates, of whom 5,246 passed, shows how great the advance has been. In connection with the lower primary scholarship some interesting statistics are given in the report to illustrate the hitherto obscure subject of the classification of lower primary schools. It appears that out of a total of 59,937 schools of this class, which were reported on with the object of determining the stage of progress they had attained to, 15,205 with 333,635 pupils had reached the primary scholarship standard, 33,943 with 594,008 pupils were below that standard but read printed books, while 10,789 with 131,518 pupils had not advanced sufficiently to use printed books at all.

17. The standards of instruction now prescribed for the two classes of primary schools include the following :—

Upper Primary Schools.

1. The vernacular language.
2. The history and geography of Bengal.
3. Arithmetic, including native accounts.
4. Part of the first book of Euclid.
5. Elementary physics.
6. The Sanitary Primer.

Lower Primary Schools.

1. Bodhoday—a vernacular adaptation of Chamber's Rudiments of Knowledge.
2. Hand-writing and reading of manuscript.
3. European arithmetic up to compound division.
4. Rules and formulæ for native mental arithmetic.
5. Native methods of accounts.
6. The Sanitary Primer.

In the case of the upper primary schools this course of instruction has come to be adopted by degrees, but it is not altogether in accordance with the principles now accepted as determining the objects of primary education and its relation to secondary education. These principles are thus stated by the Education Commission—

"Primary education should be regarded as the instruction of the masses through the vernacular in such subjects as will best fit them for their position in life." "There is a clear line of distinction between secondary and primary educat on, in that the former no longer has exclusive reference to the practical requirements of the student in after life. In however small a degree, it begins to be definitely associated with what is understood as liberal education, and with the exercise of the higher faculties of thought"

In other words, primary education is intended to be complete in itself up to the limits of the aim it has in view on the principles now accepted. The upper primary schools, which represent the highest development of primary education, are not intended to serve as a connecting link with schools of a higher grade, and subjects which were introduced into their curriculum with that object may now properly be replaced by others of greater practical utility. Elementary mensuration for example may be substituted for the first book of Euclid, and in pursuance of the recommendations of the Education Commission an experimental beginning may be made of instruction in the industrial arts. There is much room for the doubts expressed by Mr. Croft whether the application of the elements of natural and physical science to agriculture can usefully be taught in primary schools; but the question may be further considered in consultation with the Director of Agriculture, who will probably be able to determine whether anything of the kind should be attempted. The lower primary course requires little alteration, except perhaps the substitution of an easy treatise on the preservation of health for the sanitary primer which has proved too abstruse and difficult for lower primary students. A further question, upon which considerable differences of opinion are apparent, is whether the existing primary schools are not inferior to their predecessors of the last generation in their teaching of mental arithmetic, subhankari, and zemindari and mahajani accounts. On the whole, it seems probable that, as has been often pointed out by district officers, some deterioration has taken place under these heads. The matter was discussed at a Conference of Inspectors of Schools during the year, and it is proposed to alter the scholarship rules by entering "Bazar accounts" under "Subhankari," and by making "Mental arithmetic—European and native—" a separate subject. The recommendation is closely connected with the proposals to reduce the number of standards of examination for awards, and to make the reading of printed books an essential condition of grants-in-aid. In support of this latter proposal, Mr. Croft remarks—

> In the first place, we cannot at this time of day consent to include in our scheme of public primary instruction any school which permanently refuses or is unable to teach the vernacular through the medium of printed pages. The advantage to the ryot, the artizan, or the petty trader of being able to spell out the meaning of a printed notice is so obvious at the present time, and will probably be so much greater at no distant future, that we may rightly insist upon the introduction of that form of learning into every school which receives public money. In the second place, to deny grants of money to schools which teach no printed primer is to provide them with the best possible inducement to supply the deficiency. The sums which these schools now receive from the primary grant are too small to make the withdrawal of aid a matter of life or death to them; while the amounts to which they may become entitled if they can succeed in teaching a moderate standard, including a printed book, are considerable enough to make it worth their while to put forth an effort to that end.

Taking the whole group of questions arising out of the changed conditions of primary education in Bengal, the Director's proposals may be summed up thus—

(i)—To revise the course of instruction in both grades of primary schools, so as to make it more practically useful to the classes for whom it is designed.

(ii)—Fix the pay of the masters of upper primary schools at from Rs. 4 to Rs. 6 a month, and in course of time raising it from Rs. 5 to Rs. 8.

(iii)—To lay down definite standards for rewards below the standard of the lower primary scholarship.

(iv)—To make the use of printed books obligatory in aided schools.

(v)—To require, from every school seeking a reward, that it shall produce at least ten boys, shall have been in existence for ten months, and shall bring to the place of examination attendance and inspection registers properly kept.

All of these suggestions are in accordance with the principle laid down in the Resolution on last year's report, that the "consolidation and improvement of existing institutions should now be the main object of the local officers," and they will tend to introduce a uniform system which will enable future progress to be gauged by definite tests. But while the Lieutenant-Governor here expresses his general concurrence in them, he wishes to see in a separate form the financial effect of the second recommendation before finally approving it.

18. Mahomedan Education.—The following statement shows the number and percentage of Mahomedan pupils in different classes of schools:—

	Total number of pupils.	Number of Mahomedans.	Percentage of Mahomedans.

Elementary	10,518	1,883	17·9
Total ...	1,392,609	392,003	28·15

It is observed that the number of Mahomedan pupils in all schools has increased from 366,388 to 392,003, and the proportion borne by them to the total number of pupils of all kinds has risen from 27·9 to 28·15 per cent. The proportion of Mahomedans to the population of the part of Bengal included in the educational returns is 31·5 per cent., while their education percentage ranges from 3·1 in Professional colleges and 4·6 in Arts colleges to 14·9 per cent. in upper primary and 31·7 per cent. in lower primary schools. On the strength of general calculations of the kind it has hitherto been the practice to assume that the comparative absence of Mahomedans from the higher educational institutions is due to their sectarian dislike of the kind of instruction given them. A closer examination of the statistics tends, however, to throw some doubt upon this view. It is true that in the Presidency Division, where Mahomedans of the poorer agricultural classes compose about half the population, Mahomedan pupils contribute only about 27 per cent. to the school-going population. In Sarun, on the other hand, the school percentage of Mahomedans is 15 against a population rate of 7·5, while in Durbhunga it is 24 against a population rate of 14. Again, in the high schools of Orissa, the proportion of Mahomedan pupils is 11 per cent., and in middle English and middle vernacular schools 9 per cent., although the proportion of Mahomedans to the total population of Orissa is only 2·3 per cent. If, then, a low educational percentage of Mahomedans is confined to those districts where they occupy a low place in the social scale, and the conditions are reversed in those parts of the country where they are comparatively well off, the facts seem to support the conclusion that the traditional explanation is incorrect, and that it is the comparative poverty of Mahomedans, rather than any special prejudices of theirs, which accounts for their apparent neglect of the facilities for higher education which the existing system offers.

19. In spite of the merger of the Rajshahye Madrassa in the Rajshahye College, the number of students at the five Madrassas under Government management rose from 1,139 to 1,191. The Calcutta Madrassa and the Moorshedabad Nowab's Madrassa (formerly called the Nizamut College) are maintained from Provincial revenues, while Dacca, Chittagong, and Hooghly receive assignments from the Mohsin Fund. The total expenditure on Mahomedan education from the Mohsin Fund amounted to Rs. 57,771, of which Rs. 32,642 were devoted to the maintenance of Madrassas, Rs. 4,827 to the salaries of Maulavis in high schools, Rs. 10,370 to scholarships, and Rs. 9,932 to the payment of two-thirds of the fees of Mahomedan boys in English colleges and schools. The number of candidates appearing at the central examination of the Madrassa was 180, of whom 110 passed—50 in the first division, 19 in the second, and 41 in the third. There was no material difference between these statistics and the corresponding figures for the preceding year. The number of students in the Calcutta Madrassa and the Collinga branch school attached to it increased from 1,116 to 1,253, and the number of English students from 727 to 814. While recognizing the fact that the number of students learning English is increasing, and that of purely Oriental students declining, the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Director in thinking, not only that the Oriental course should be maintained, but that such subjects should be added to it as are best fitted to qualify the students to conduct the business transactions of ordinary life. Before, however, coming to any final decision regarding the subjects to be included, Sir Rivers Thompson would be glad to be furnished with fuller information regarding the extent to which Oriental students have found themselves at a disadvantage in obtaining employment by reason of the shortcomings of the Madrassa course. The Dacca and Chittagong Madrassas appear to have gained in popularity, while Hooghly has remained stationary.

20. Female Education.—The progress of female education during the last two years is clearly illustrated by the following statement:—

GRAND TOTAL ...	1,398	58,622	1,785	65,813

* The figures for 1883 include European schools, which cannot be separated from schools for native girls.
† The figures for 1884 exclude European schools, now separately returned.

It will be seen that the number of schools rose from 1,398 to 1,785, and of pupils from 27,485 to 32,167. As at the same time the number of girls in boys' schools increased from 31,137 to 33,646, it follows that the total number of girls under instruction during the past year was (excluding 930 little boys attending girls' schools) 64,883 against 57,328 in the foregoing year. There were also at the close of the year 12 private (indigenous) schools for girls attended by 339 pupils. The total cost of the 1,785 girls' schools was Rs. 2,26,787, of which Rs. 84,324 was contributed by Government. The expenditure from municipal funds was Rs. 5,218, from fees Rs. 17,985, and from all other sources, mainly subscriptions and donations, Rs. 1,19,260. There can be no question that the great progress made by female education in Bengal within the last few years has been largely due to the establishment of girls' classes in primary schools for boys. This system of mixed schools was not regarded with approval by the Education Commission, but their views on the subject had reference to certain general principles which do not affect the special circumstances which have contributed to make mixed schools peculiarly successful in Bengal. In remarking on the report of the Commission, the Lieutenant-Governor has already expressed his opinion that boys and girls may well be taught together, as in fact they play together, up to the age of ten years, and he is satisfied that the keen competition which the mixed system gives rise to acts as a healthy stimulus to the boys as well as to the girls. Of the two Government girls' schools, the Eden Female School at Dacca shows a falling off in the number of its pupils from 191 to 157. The Bethune School in Calcutta gained two pupils, its strength being 117, of whom 112 were in the school department and five in the college department. Two candidates were successful in the First Arts Examination. During the past year Mrs. Wheeler, Inspectress, reported that out of 3,024 pupils reading in zenanas and schools for infants in Calcutta, Hooghly, and the 24-Pergunnahs, 1,192 were mere infants and were not presented for examination by any of the standards; while of the remaining, 1,832 who appeared for examination, 64 passed by the lower and 39 by the upper primary standard, 64 by the middle, and only three by the upper standard. The percentage of success was therefore 9·2 excluding infants, or 5·6 if infants be taken into account. The causes of this comparative failure are rather obscure, and the Director proposes to consider them at a Conference of school managers during this cold season. His report of the conclusions arrived at will, it is hoped, tend to clear matters up and to enable measures to be taken in future to secure progress of a kind that can be tested by examination.

21. Turning to girls' schools outside Calcutta, it appears that, with a few exceptions, they read the ordinary departmental standards prescribed for boys, and are under the inspection of the regular Deputy and Sub-Inspectors of Schools. In commenting on this state of things, the Director remarks:—

"If special standards are to be prescribed for girls' schools generally, as the Education Commission recommends, separate scholarships must be provided for them; and however desirable in other ways that course may be, the special advantage of pitting the boys of a district against the girls, and stimulating both to increased exertions through the competition thus excited, would at any rate be lost.

"There is one danger to be specially guarded against in this connection. Putting aside missionary effort, it is to be feared that there is very little enthusiasm for female education among the population generally. Natives of intelligence know perfectly well that when the women of the country begin to be generally educated and to learn independence, troublous times are in store for them. They may thoroughly allow that when the process has been completed, the nation will rise in intelligence, in character, and in all the graces of life. But they are equally well aware that while the process of education is going on, the period of transition will be marked by the loosening of social ties, the upheaval of customary ways, and by continued and severe domestic affliction. A sub-inspector lately observed to Mr. C. B. Clarke in strict confidence:—'I am opposed to girls' schools, Sir, really: the female mind is very vain, and even a little reading and writing makes them useless for all the work they should do for us.' Mr. Clarke calls this officer a man of superior honesty, and that he doubtless is; but if his views are widely shared, and if no real desire or enthusiasm is felt for the spread of education among women, it is well to reflect that by keeping, either altogether or in great part, the same standards for girls as for boys, we are doing what we can to prevent girls' schools and the education given in them from degenerating into a sham. If the girls learn in essentials the same standards as the boys, they will have a chance of being educated in a much more robust and genuine fashion than if the course is framed so as to include a number of fancy subjects, including the hideous wool-work, with its mixture of greens, reds and yellows, in which girls' schools commonly take so keen a delight, to the serious degradation of the national taste."

The Lieutenant-Governor can only express the hope that the observations addressed to Mr. Clarke do not represent the opinion of many intelligent native gentlemen. The complaint that education unfits women for their domestic duties is no new one. It has been heard in every country where female education has been introduced, and everywhere fuller experience has shown that really cultivated women have a keener sense of their domestic responsibilities, and exercise a more improving influence upon their children and households, than those brought up under a regime of ignorance. The Lieutenant-Governor can see no reason why the development of female intelligence and character in Bengal should produce wholly different results from those which the same movement has produced in Europe. It may be that in a far distant time some Bengali ladies may be tempted to sacrifice their household duties to intellectual pleasures, and to "afflict" "superior" husbands in the process. But in that case Bengali husbands will be no better off than their European fellow sufferers, and there is the hope that the national life of Bengal, like the national life in western countries, will, on the whole, gain in strength and in variety of interest.

22. In all the divisions of Bengal the number of girls' schools has increased, the increase being most marked in Rajshahye and Bhagulpore. Good progress has also been made in Shahabad, where the Maharajah of Doomraon has interested himself in the movement, and has already done much to combat the prejudice against female education which is stated to exist in that district. Durbhunga again heads the list with 2,163 girls at school against 1,690 in the preceding year, almost all of whom were being educated in boys' schools. The popularity of female education in Durbhunga is ascribed by the Director to the retention in the schools of the traditional subjects of instruction, especially verses and legends, which the pupils learn by heart. The example is one which may well be followed elsewhere. In Chota Nagpore the district of Singbhoom shows the remarkable increase of 28 schools attended by 952 pupils—an advance which is due partly to the interest taken in female education by the Deputy Commissioner, and partly to the independent character of the Kol women, who do not marry until they are grown up, and in most cases chose their husbands for themselves.

23. European and Eurasian Education.—The number of schools for Europeans and Eurasians, the number of pupils attending them, and the Government expenditure, are shown for the last two years in the following statement:—

Class.	Number of schools on the 31st March.		Number of scholars on the 31st March.		Government expenditure.
	1883.	1884.	1883.	1884.	1882-83	1883-84.
					Rs.	Rs.
Government	1	1	81	97
Aided	45	49	4,746	4,945	1,13,696	1,12,081
Unaided	10	13	751	913
Total ...	56	63	5,578	5,955

The figures are not strictly accurate, as a few unaided schools submitted no returns; but if allowance be made for this, it is believed that there are about 70 schools for Europeans in Bengal, containing 6,300 or 6,400 pupils. About 38 schools, with about 4,800 scholars, are located in Calcutta. The draft code of regulations for European schools in Bengal, provisionally accepted by the Government of India in February 1883, was in force with certain limitations throughout the year, and all the schools were under the supervision of Mr. A. M. Nash, who was appointed Inspector of European Schools in April 1883. For the reasons explained in detail by Mr. Nash, whose report has been adopted by the Director, the conditions under which the examinations were held during the past year were not such as to furnish a suitable basis for an inquiry into the financial results of introducing the code system of grants. Although in the class subjects the standard of proficiency was low owing in some measure to the teachers not knowing what was required, it is satisfactory to find that nearly 79 per cent. of the scholars passed in at least two elementary subjects, and were therefore qualified for instruction grants. The total earnings of all schools in the elementary subjects amount to Rs. 23,920, and in class and special subjects to from Rs. 11,000 to Rs. 12,000. Summing up the experience of the year, it can only be said that the schools have not yet become sufficiently well acquainted with the requirements of the code for it to be possible to form any final opinion as to its working.

24. Special instruction, Normal Schools.—Including two classes for the training of gurus attached to the middle vernacular schools at Ghatsilla and Ungool, there are now 16 Government normal schools. Eight are of the first grade and prepare students by a three years' course for the post of head vernacular teacher in a middle school, and eight belong to the third grade, which trains gurus for six months or a year. To the first grade schools are attached model or practising schools in which the students can acquire a practical knowledge of their work. At the Vernacular Mastership Examination of 1883, for students of first grade normal schools, 292 candidates passed out of 355, against 215 out of 293 in the previous year. Besides this, 207 pupils of third grade normal schools obtained certificates qualifying them for appointments as gurus of primary schools. A proposal was brought forward during the year to introduce English into the normal school course, and to convert normal schools into ordinary entrance schools teaching the special subjects of the normal school course. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Director in thinking that the adoption of this project would tend to lower the standard of vernacular education without specially advancing the study of English.

25. Law Schools.—The number of law students rose from 554 to 664, and out of 92 candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Law, 8 passed in the first and 43 in the second division. The attendance at the law lectures of the Presidency College dwindled to six owing to the affiliation in law of the Metropolitan Institution and the City College, and the classes were closed at the end of the year.

26. Medical Schools.—The number of students at the Medical College shows a slight decrease from 126 to 117; in the four vernacular schools it advanced from 391 to 461, and in the Dacca Homœopathic School from 46 to 144. Twenty-one students from the Medical College passed the first M.B. and L.M.S. examination, 10 passed the final examination for a license in medicine and surgery, and 9 obtained the degree of Bachelor of Medicine. Three native dais and 6 pupil-nurses qualified as midwives. The number of students at the Campbell Medical School increased from 170 to 190, and 37 were successful at the final examination for a diploma, against 20 in the previous year. At the Dacca Medical School students advanced from 119 to 131, and 33 candidates passed at the final examination against 16 of last year. The Temple Medical School at Bankipore had 162 students and passed 23, of whom 11 came from the Central Provinces. The Cuttack Medical School has again done good work, sending up 12 candidates for the first diploma and 9 for the final examination, and all of whom passed.

27. Engineering.—The strength of the Seebpore College was 166 as against 111 in the previous year, 55 being in the engineer and in the Apprentice Department. The examination of the year resulted in one student passing for the grade of assistant engineer, one for that of sub-overseer, three for overseer, and 81 for accountant. Large additions were made to the College buildings, and the accommodation for the native student has been greatly improved. The Director reports that since stricter rules have been enforced, the students appear at the workshops more regularly and pay greater attention to this portion of the course of instruction. It is hoped that the improvement in this respect may be maintained. The retirement of Mr. C. Fouracres, Superintendent of the Workshops, deprived the College of the services of a most deserving officer who had been connected with it since its foundation, and who had taken a most active interest in the progress of its students.

28. Survey and Industrial Schools.—The survey schools at Dacca, Patna and Cuttack, and the survey class attached to the Ranchi Zillah School, made good progress during the year, and the passed students are stated to have no difficulty in finding employment after they leave the school. Having regard to the probability that the demand for trained surveyors will increase very largely within the next few years, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that special attention may be paid to the teaching of these schools, and that no pains may be spared to give the course of instruction a thoroughly practical character, so that a student may be fit to take the field with a survey party directly he leaves the school. It should never be forgotten by teachers and students in these schools that success is not secured merely by passing an examination, but depends upon their ability to go out and make within a reasonable time a correct map of a piece of country which they have never seen before, and that a man who cannot do this will not get regular employment. Among industrial schools, the artizan schools maintained by the East Indian Railway Company seem to be the most successful.

29. School of Art.—The number of students at the School of Art rose from 96 to 139. Classes in wood-engraving, wood-carving and metal repoussé work were added to the course, and specimens of pottery and metal work executed by pupils of the school are said to have been sold to advantage. A scheme is now under consideration for locating the School and the Art Gallery in the buildings erected for the Calcutta Exhibition, and the opportunity will be taken of discussing and defining the course and system of teaching with reference to the demand for artistic products in Europe and India, and particularly with the object of maintaining a pure standard of taste. Important additions were made to the Art Gallery during the year, and in this connection the thanks of the Bengal Government are specially due to Lord Northbrook for the interest he continues to take in the success of the Gallery and School. Lord Northbrook has recently selected and despatched to the Gallery some valuable pictures, and the collection now contains works representing the chief schools of painting in Europe, and some excellent work by modern artists in India. It has thus at length become possible to illustrate the teaching of the school by reference to actual examples, and to enable Indian students to realize to some extent the methods followed by the great European masters of painting.

30. School-books.—The important duty of pronouncing on the merits of the large body of school literature which is produced in the province is entrusted to the Central Text-book Committee sitting in Calcutta, with branch Committees at Bankipore for Behar and at Cuttack for Orissa. Up to 31st July 1884 no less than 560 books had been received for examination from various authors, and 527 had been reported on with reference to their fitness for use in middle schools. Fourteen school-books are published in Behar during the year, but ten of them were merely reprinted in the new Kaithi type of books already printed in the Devanagari character. Orissa shows greater progress with seven thoroughly useful works which are said to bear comparison with the best class of Bengali educational books. The thanks of Government are due to the Text-book Committee for the laborious and useful work they have done in determining what books are suited for adoption in schools.

31. On this, as on former occasions, the Lieutenant-Governor has to thank Mr. Croft for his thoroughly efficient administration of the Education Department, and for the judgment and discretion he has exercised in dealing with the difficult questions which have called for decision during the year. Sir Rivers Thompson learns with regret that the state of Mr. Croft's health has obliged him to apply for furlough at a time when his assistance would have been of special value in carrying out the administrative changes rendered necessary by the recommendations of the Education Commission. Mr. Croft, however, has, since the publication of the Report of the Education Commission, done much to bring the Bengal system abreast of the requirements of the time, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that, on the Director's return to duty with restored health, he will find that substantial advance has been made in that policy of educational improvement which owes so much of its great success to Mr Croft's ability and judgment.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. P. MacDONNELL,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE THIRD QUARTER OF 1884-85.

No. 118B., dated Calcutta, the 14th February 1885.

H. A. COCKERELL, Esq., C.S.I.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter under report amounted to 28,06,158 maunds 38 seers 3 chittacks, against 26,41,346 maunds 13 seers 11 chittacks in the previous quarter and 23,16,480 maunds 2 seers, 11 chittacks in the corresponding quarter of the previous year, and the net amount of duty levied thereon was Rs. 52,47,174-8, against Rs. 50,17,357 in the previous quarter and Rs. 43,03,994-8 in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The quantity of excise salt sold in the districts of Cuttack, Pooree, Balasore, and 24-Pergunnahs during the quarter under review from the stock of the different seasons' manufacture, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shown in Table I :—

CALCUTTA, the 3rd February 1885.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 20TH OF FEBRUARY 1885.

In the report for the previous week, it was noticed that an area of slight disturbance existed over Orissa on the 13th or the last day of that week, but that the conditions over the remainder of the Province were fairly settled. These conditions continued almost unaltered for the first four or five days of the present week, and during this period light rain showers have been frequent in Orissa, while rain has also been received at a few stations in Chutia Nagpur. On the 18th, however, the wind directions at the head of the Bay showed a slight tendency to cyclonic circulation, and this was accompanied by light to moderate rain in Orissa, light rain in East Bengal, and at a few of the stations in South-West Bengal. After this the weather rapidly became more settled, and at the close of the week the conditions in Bengal were again distinctly and decidedly those of the north-east monsoon. It will thus be seen that over the greater part of the Province during the week little or no rain has fallen, while the conditions have been decidedly those of the cold-weather months, and for the whole of the week, except in Orissa, where winds were southerly at the beginning of the week, a steady northerly current has been blowing over the Province.

Pressure was during the previous week nearly normal, and for the first four days of the present week pressure steadily decreased, while for the remaining three days it increased. The decreasing pressure has been more pronounced than the increasing, but this is of course a normal feature at this season, and the mean pressure for the week, though decidedly lower than that of the previous week, has been only slightly below the normal, except in North Behar, where it is even slightly above it. The defect, as may be expected from what has been previously stated, is largest in Orissa, where it amounts to 0·025″; then Chutia Nagpur and South Behar show a defect of about 0·012″, while pressure in South-West and East Bengal has been nearly normal.

Owing to the steady northerly current which has been blowing over Bengal during the week, temperatures were in all cases below the normal. The average defect over the whole Province has been about 5°, but in some instances, as at Gya and Purneah, it amounts to between 6° and 7°. The low temperature has been most marked in the day or maximum temperature, and thus at eight selected typical stations the day temperatures have been 5·8° in defect, while the night or minimum temperatures have only been 3·6° in defect. That this is the case is seen in the following table, where the normal and actual mean maximum and minimum temperatures at the eight stations are given :—

Names of Stations.	Maximum day temperature.			Minimum night temperature.
	Normal average for week.	Actual average for week.	Difference.	Normal average for week.	Actual average for week.	Difference.

The rainfall for the week has been important in Orissa and in Chutia Nagpur, but in the other districts it has been quite unimportant. In Orissa rain fell generally on four days of the week, while in Chutia Nagpur it fell in small quantities generally on one or two days. The average fall in Orissa has equalled 2·13 inches, which is ten times the normal fall. In Chutia Nagpur the average fall has been 0·23 inch, which is nearly equal to the normal fall of 0·22 inch. South-West Bengal has received about one-fourth the normal fall, and East Bengal about one-fifth of it. In South Behar there was practically no rain, while in North Behar and North Bengal no rain at all was reported during the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 20th February 1885:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 15h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

MEMORANDA.

THE first class Municipalities in Bengal returned, during the week ending 7th February 1885, the birth and death-rates of 23·2 and 27·2 per 1,000 of population, respectively, as opposed to 23·7 and 30·1 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 31st January, indicating a large reduction in the record of deaths.

2. The highest birth and death-rates were returned by the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Bhagulpore	49·8	Jessore	55·1
Durbhanga	46·4	Poori	53·5
Comillah	46·2	Suburbs of Calcutta	42·4
Serampore	31·4	Utterpara	37·8
		Serampore	33 4
		Midnapore	32·5
		Hughli	29·5

3. Referring to the principal death-causes, cholera is reported to have proved fatal at the rate of 3·0 per 1,000 of population against 2 6 per 1,000 in the preceding week ending 31st January; small-pox at ·7 against ·4 per 1,000; fever at 10·9 against 12 6 per 1,000; bowel-complaints at 5·0 against 5·5 per 1,000; injury at ·2 per 1,000 against the same proportion; and "other causes" at 7·4 against 8·8 per 1,000. The noticeable feature presented by these figures is that the mortality from fever and from the diseases classed under the head of "other causes" had diminished to a sensible extent.

4. Excluding injury, the mortality from which was nowhere conspicuously heavy, the rest of the diseases proved most fatal to life in the following Municipalities :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorised form of age classification.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFCATION No. 76.

The 27th February 1885.

THE following annual accounts and abstracts of the reports of Road Cess Committees of the districts of Dacca, Furreedpore, Backergunge and Mymensingh, for the cess year 1882-83, together with the remarks thereon of the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, are published, for general information.

G. F. E. S. NEILL, Major, M.S.C.,
Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W. D.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Dacca, on the Committee's operations for the Cess year 1882-83.

THE Cess Act has been worked in the district without difficulty.

The District Committee and the Branch Committee of Moonsheegunge have taken interest in, and done their work well, with the exception of the members who did not attend a single meeting. The Manickgunge Branch Committee do not appear to have discharged their duties with the amount of enthusiasm or interest as desired.

No expenditure was incurred on village roads in the Sudder sub-division. This is attributable to the fact that no applications for grants for village roads were received until the working season was over. Village works both in the shape of original works and repairs were executed by the Brach Committees of Manickgunge and Moonsheegunge out of the allotments for village roads. In certain cases the grants for these roads were supplemented by private donations, and the lands were given up free of cost for the construction of village communications in every instance. The Moonsheegunge Branch Committee could not spend the whole of their allotment in consequence of the revised distribution of grants having been made late in the season.

During the year about 913 fruit-bearing trees, consisting of mangoe, jaban and jack were planted along the sides of several roads, and all of them were provided with strong bamboo enclosures. The maintenance and the watering of the road-side trees were done by the village punchayets, to whom they were made over for the purpose; but owing to want of care on the part of these punchayets many trees died. The trees have now been taken over from the charge of the punchayets, and mallies appointed to look after them.

The principal feature of the year under report is the absence of big original works. The Committee at first allotted Rs. 24,479 for the construction of an embanked road from Dewanbaree Tek towards Bulliarpore, but subsequently they proposed to construct within the amount a fair weather road in order to render passable the whole length of the road from Dacca to Manickgunge, rather than spend the whole amount on the continuation of less than a mile of the embanked road, and their proposal was sanctioned. But the work was not undertaken in the year, as the alignment of the road is not as good as it might be. All the small original works proposed for the year were completed, and the roads in connection therewith are reported, with a few exceptions, to be in fair order.

Repairs were carried out to all the existing roads in the district, with the exception of a few. The general condition of these roads, however, is reported to be fair.

The whole of the executive and office staff attached to the District Engineer's office, as well as the Committee's and the Collection establishments, have all worked well and given satisfaction in the discharge of their respective duties.

K. C. RAI,
Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Furreedpore, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83.

CONSIDERING the smallness of funds at the disposal of the Committee, and the extensive area of their application, the Committee could not afford to reduce the rate, and the cess was levied, as in previous years, at the maximum rate of one half-anna on each rupee of profit. The receipts under this head, though less by about Rs. 900 than the sum estimated in the budget, seem nevertheless to be satisfactory as being Rs. 56,267-9-0 against Rs. 50,240-9-2½ in the previous year. This increase of revenue is the result of the partial revaluation finished in October 1883. The total increase in demand of road cess resulting from the partial revaluation is Rs. 6,521, of which the realization of Rs. 4,153 took effect from the year under report, and the realization of the rest began from the cess year 1883-84. The receipts under other heads were also satisfactory, they being in most cases more than the sums estimated in the budget.

The members of the District Committee, with few exceptions, took interest in the administration of the funds generally when they met. But the Sub-Committees appointed for the audit of accounts and for other business scarcely did their duties with punctuality. They were, however, found to perform the duties entrusted to them satisfactorily at the end.

The accounts of the Committee's office and those of the District Engineer's were monthly examined by the standing Sub-Committee of Audit consisting of the Vice-Chairman and five other members, as also at the close of the year. They were further examined in January 1883 by the Examiner of Local Accounts, who reported things to be generally right.

No original work of importance was undertaken or executed during the year under report. The Committee adhered to the policy of devoting as little as possible of their funds on isolated bits of roads, and did not spend anything for original works except such as were necessary to complete the works already undertaken. With a view to construct the main arteries of water communication which are badly wanting in the district, they provided a considerable part of the amount available for work, for the excavation of the Bakhandia Khal, joining the Dhole Samudra with the river Sitalakha, which was considered to be the means of opening a complete boat route between Madaripore and the district head-quarters all the year round. The Committee expected to see this work undertaken till in January 1883 the Divisional Superintendent of Works pronounced it impracticable to their great disappointment.

Repairs were executed to most of the roads on which they seemed to be actually necessary and for which there were provisions in the budget. All the roads are reported to have been in good condition during the year under report.

The outlay during the year on village roads of the district, including both the original and repair works, amounts to Rs. 6,292-5-9 against an allotment of Rs. 7,500, and the difference is due partly to the non-receipt of the accounts in due time of the advances made from the Sudder Sub-Division for village roads, and partly to mistakes on the part of the Branch Committees in appropriating portions of grants for village roads in the excavation of tanks. The expenditure for village roads shown under original works was made for constructing, extending, or improving 35 village roads, of which 13 are in Sudder sub-division, 12 in Goalundo, and 10 in Madaripore, and that under repairs was incurred on 16 village roads, of which 6 are in Sudder sub-division, 6 in Goalundo and 4 in Madaripore.

With the budget provision of Rs. 1,000, subsequently increased to Rs. 1,262-8-0 by transfer, and largely supplemented by local subscriptions, five tanks were excavated during the year. Three of these were in Sudder sub-division and one in each of the two sub-divisions.

No new trees were planted on road-sides during the year, but those planted in previous years were properly maintained and looked after at a cost of about Rs. 979-7-3.

The different establishments under the Committee discharged their duties well.

(o).—No repairs were necessary on the Syedpore road.

(p).—The allotments for roads Nos. 47, 51 and 52 were not spent owing to the services of good contractors having not been available. The jungles over the roads Nos. 47 and 51 were cleared, but the expenditure could not be shown, as the accounts reached the office after the close of the year. Contracts were given for the repairs of roads Nos. 24, 30 and 48, but the contractor failed to do the work. The roads were, however, reported to be in good order.

(q) —In the budget sanctioned by Government the amount shown under head Establishment, Public Works, was Rs. 11,977, inclusive of the allotment of Rs. 3,002 on account of the establishment of the Divisional Superintendent of Works, but in the annual accounts the latter sum has been shown under a separate head under Government Circular No. 6T F., dated the 11th June 1883.

(r).—Owing to the opening of a railway up to Khulna the Burrisal Committee intended to open direct communication with that place, which is nearer to them, and gave up the idea of opening steamer communication between this district and theirs. And this Committee thought it inadvisable to undertake the work at their entire expense: hence no expenditure. The amount has been transferred to other works with the sanction of the Commissioner.

AMBIKA CHARAN MUZUMDAR,
Vice-Chairman.

Abstract of a report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Backergunge, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83.

THE cess was levied in this district at half the maximum rate during the year.

The year opened with a balance of Rs. 29,553 against Rs. 59,848 for the year 1881-82. The net collection during the year was Rs. 1,17,289 against Rs. 1,06,483 of the previous year. The receipts, including balance, were estimated at Rs. 1,31,023, and the expenditure at Rs. 1,26,031. The actual expenditure on several heads amounted to Rs. 1,13,295.

The Chairmen of the several Branch Committees have evinced interest in and done their work well.

Of the original works proposed for the year under report, the extension of the Tajumuddin road, the metalling of the Bhola town roads, and the earthwork of Kaligunge road, were undertaken and completed with the exception of the last. No other works could be undertaken during the year.

Ordinary annual repairs were carried out on all the existing roads, and some of the existing khals, which are reported to be in fair order.

Village works, both in the shape of original works and repairs, were executed by the District Committee and the Branch Committees of Perozepore, Patuakhally and Bhola.

Six hundred and thirty-nine young trees were planted on several roads in the sudder and Bhola sub-divisions, and those previously planted were attended to.

Nothing was spent of the allotment made in the budget for steamer communication between Burrisal and Goalundo. A fresh proposal for a steamer communication between Burrisal and Khoolna was made by the Central Bengal Railway Company, and the Road Cess Committee agreed to contribute Rs. 6,000 per annum for a daily service. The steamer, it is expected, will run as soon as the Khoolna line is opened.

The Committee lost a very useful and efficient officer in their District Engineer Mr. Glover, who resigned their service in January. The Overseer Baboo Juggodish Chunder Roy, who has been promoted in his place, is a young man who has still to make his mark. The Head Clerk of the Committee has given entire satisfaction in the discharge of his duties. He is intelligent and hard-working and is an honest officer.

Abstract of a Report by the Chairman of the District Road Cess Committee, Mymensingh, on the Committee's operations for the cess year 1882-83.

IN this district the Road Cess Act has been in actual operation since October 1875, and this is the eighth year the Act has been in force. The income is quite insufficient for the requirements of this large district. The people are always complaining that they get nothing for their money. The Cess Act works smoothly, but some land-holders exact their entire amount from their ryots.

The road cess on lands has been levied at the maximum rate of one-half anna or six pies on each rupee of the annual value of lands ever since the introduction of the Cess Act in the district. The net collections from the several sources during the year amounted to Rs. 1,47,945 against the estimated demand of Rs. 1,53,855. The balance remaining unrealized at the close of the year, including arrears of cess of the previous years, was Rs. 11,328. The percentage of collection under the head "Cess on lands" being 97·38, is very satisfactory, as it exceeds the rate of 95 per cent. required by Government by 2·38 per cent.

There are four Branch Committees in the district, viz. at Attea, Jamalpore, Kishoregunge, and Netrokona. A Branch Committee at Netrokona, with 15 members, was formed during the year with the opening of a sub-division there. With the exception of the Jamalpore Branch Committee, the members of the other Committees took a fair amount of interest in their work.

The expenditure under the head "Original works" amounted to Rs. 60,491 against the estimate of Rs. 71,968 for the year under review. The amount expended was more than what was spent in the previous year, and was allotted to the construction of four roads, eight masonry and timber bridges and culverts, two inspection bungalows, a road cess office building, a store godown, and metalling of a road. No irrigation work has been undertaken since the commencement of the cess system in this district. All the works commenced in previous years, as well as in the year under report, have been completed with the exception of four only.

The outlay on "Repairs" was Rs 50,517 against Rs. 58,700 sanctioned during the year. The amount spent on repairing and maintaining the existing district and village roads was less by Rs. 8,000 than that of Rs. 58,529 spent in the previous year. The roads have, however, been kept in fair order and permanently improved by the construction of some masonry bridges.

A sum of Rs. 30,123 was expended during the year on the construction and maintenance of village roads against Rs. 32,717 allotted for the purpose. Half the cost for the construction of a village road from Kakrail to Ambaria was contributed by the zemindar of Ambaria. Applications were received in large numbers for village roads, and complied with as far as the funds of each Branch Committee permitted, and it appears that the want of good roads is felt by the people in general, and improved and easy communication throughout the district is becoming a growing necessity.

Rupees 300 were expended in clearing out a tank to improve the supply of drinking water at the Netrokona Sub-Divisional Head-quarters, where it was much needed.

Rupees 430 were expended during the year on maintaining the indigenous fruit-bearing trees planted in previous years on the sides of two of the main roads in the district. Almost all of them are not beyond danger of destruction by animals.

The District Engineer did not move about sufficiently in the interior, and some of his subordinates worked unsatisfactorily. With these exceptions, the establishments under the Committee worked fairly well.

The percentage of all the establishments under the Committee on the net collections during the year, excluding the estimated balance of the preceding year, is 23·16, which is below the limit of 25 per cent. allowed by the law.

R. M. WALLER,

Chairman, Road Cess Committee.

No. 366R., dated Dacca, the 28th March 1884.

From—N. S. ALEXANDER, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Dacca Division,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

IN accordance with the provisions of section 179 of the Cess Act, IX (B.C.) of 1880, and the instructions contained in your office circular No. 973A., dated 14th September 1880, I have the honour to submit herewith the annual accounts and reports of the Road Cess funds for the several Districts of this Division (except Furreedpore) for the cess year 1882-83, accompanied by some brief remarks of mine. The accounts and the report from Furreedpore have not yet been received in spite of repeated reminders from this office.

2. In Dacca, the actual income exceeded the estimates, while in Backergunge and Mymensingh it fell short of them.

3. Original works.—In Dacca and Backergunge, the number of original works done during the year, has been small. The total expenditure under this head has been only Rs. 10,438 and Rs. 33,410, as compared with Rs. 65,692 and Rs. 57,462 respectively in the previous year. It appears that, in Backergunge especially, works of which the estimates had been sanctioned, and for which provision had been made in the budget, were not undertaken. An explanation has been called for from the Chairman, Road Cess Committees.

4. The progress made in the construction of original works in Mymensingh has been satisfactory. Nearly all the original works commenced during the present and past years have been completed during the year, with the exception of four only, the non-completion of which has been fully explained in the Chairman's report. In Dacca and Backergunge, the amount of original works done during the year under report is very small as compared with that in the preceding year.

5. Repairs.—The amount of work done and the expenditure incurred in connection with the repair and maintenance of the existing district roads in the Division was less than that in the preceding year.

6. With regard to the construction of feeder roads for the Dacca and Mymensingh State Railway, a detailed estimate of the cost of the road from Sreepore to Gosinga Hat in Dacca is under preparation, and the Mymensingh District Committee have already assigned Rs. 6,642 for the construction of two roads—one from Balipara to the Brahmaputra river, and the other from Kalibazar to the nearest point on the same river—as reported to Government in this office letter No. 275R., dated the 4th March 1884.

7. Planting of trees.—Due attention appears to have been paid by the several district committees of the Division to the planting of fruit-bearing trees on the sides of roads.

8. Village communication.—Except in the districts of Mymensingh and Backergunge, not much was done for the furtherance of village communication. In those two districts, however, a good deal of such work was undertaken and completed. In the sudder sub-division of the Dacca district, nothing whatever appears to have been done, either towards the maintenance and improvement of the existing village roads and water channels, or for the construction of new ones. The omission is explained to be owing to the fact that no applications for grants for village works were received until the working season was over. In the districts of Dacca and Mymensingh, grants for village roads were supplemented by the voluntary contributions of the people, and lands were also given free of cost.

Dacca.
1. District Committee.
2. Moonshegunge Committee.

1. Perozepore Branch Committee.
2. Bhola Branch Committee.
3. Patuakhali Branch Committee.

Mymensingh.
1. Sudder Branch Committee.
2. Kishorgunge Branch Committee.
3. Netrokona Branch Committee.

9. Abstract of particulars of meetings.—The percentage of the average attendance of members of the district and branch committees, noted on the margin, was small, showing a want of zeal and energy on the part of the majority of the members. The Chairmen of these committees have been requested to call on the members to be more regular in their attendance in future.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to enable the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta to provide Docks was referred, have the honour to submit the following report :—

2. We have expanded the preamble of the Bill, as we think it desirable that the preamble should mention the concessions already made by the Secretary of State for the purposes of the Bill.

3. Section 3 of the original Bill gave the Commissioners a general power to construct docks. But as the guarantee of the Secretary of State extends only to such loans as may be raised for the construction of the docks at Kidderpore, for which the lans and estimates have been submitted to him, we have modified the wording of the psection so as to make it applicable only to the Kidderpore Docks.

4. In section 4 we have inserted words referring to the rate of interest on the loans, and we have thus been enabled to strike out section 5 of the original Bill. We think it unnecessary to declare that the loans shall be secured upon the docks, or upon the dock-receipts. Investors in the loans will depend entirely upon the Government guarantee, and upon the arrangements made for the punctual payment of the interest. They would feel no additional security from a declaration that the loans are charged upon the docks.

5. Section 5, as originally worded, provided that the loans should be repayable in such manner as the Government might direct. We think there are strong objections to this, as the estimates are based on the assumption that the money will be raised at 4½ per cent., and they include no provision for a sinking fund, or for the repayment of the principal. At the same time, we understand that the Government of India considers it necessary to reserve to itself power to order repayment of any loan, when such repayment may appear advisable, and the funds of the Port are in a position to bear the charge. We have therefore provided that, at any time not less than ten years after the raising of a loan, the Government may give notice of its intention to order repayment of the loan at the end of thirty years from the issue of the notice, and may require the Commissioners to provide the funds necessary for such repayment.

6. We have altered the wording of section 6 in such a manner as to provide that the Accountant-General shall advance to the Commissioners such sums as may be necessary to meet the charges on account of interest upon loans raised under the Act.

7. We have thought it unnecessary to declare in section 9 that the moneys already advanced by Government shall be a first charge on the docks, and we have simply provided that such moneys shall be repaid in such manner, and at such time, as the Government may direct.

8. Lastly, we have added a section to give validity to all action taken by the Port Commissioners in anticipation of the passing of the Bill.

* I THINK that it should be stated in the Report that the provision for repayment of the loans is inserted in compliance with the demands of the Secretary of State as intending surety or lender of the funds.

I sign the Report without prejudice to any future consideration of the Bill.

A. PHILLIPS.

† I HAVE signed this Report as approving generally of the recommendations as to the form of the Bill if it is decided by the Council that the measure shall proceed further. I feel, however, very doubtful as to the possibility of this scheme proving a success. It was initiated and approved under commercial conditions of a very different character from those at present subsisting. The policy of the Bill has been only indirectly under the consideration of the Committee, and has not been formally discussed. It has been stated that a public memorial protesting against the Bill has either been sent in to the Government, or is shortly about to be sent in. In my opinion it would be desirable, under these circumstances, to delay proceeding further with the Bill until the memorial shall have been considered. I concur in the Advocate-General's suggestion.

A. B. MILLER.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th February, 1885, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 3 OF 1885.

A Bill to amend section 265 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend section 265 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872; It IX of 1872. is hereby enacted as follows:—

New section substituted for section 265, Indian Contract Act.

1. For section 265 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"265. In the absence of any contract to the contrary, after the termination of a partnership, the Court may at the suit of any one of the partners or his representatives wind up the business of the firm, provide for the payment of its debts, and distribute the surplus according to the shares of the partners respectively."

Right of partners to sue for winding-up by Court after termination of partnership.

2. In section 213 of the Code of Civil Procedure the words and figures from and including the word "applications" to the end of the section are hereby repealed. XIV of 1882.

Repeal of part of section 213, Act XIV 1882.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SECTION 265 of the Indian Contract Act provides that, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, after the termination of a partnership, each partner or his representatives may apply to the Court to wind up the business of the firm, to provide for the payment of its debts and to distribute the surplus according to the shares of the partners respectively. It is explained that the Court mentioned in the section means a Court not inferior to the Court of a District Judge within the limits of whose jurisdiction the place or principal place of business of the firm is situated. This section has been the subject of various decisions by the Calcutta and other High Courts, first as to the meaning of the words "may apply", and secondly with regard to the jurisdiction of the Courts in the case of applications under the section.

2. The use of the words "may apply" has given rise to doubts as to whether the legislature intended that proceedings under the section should be by way of miscellaneous application or by way of regular suit. It is considered that where a partner wishes to have the business of the firm wound up, the debts paid and the surplus distributed, he should proceed by instituting a regular suit. The questions which the Court has to consider in such a case cannot well be decided in a summary manner on a miscellaneous application, and in disposing of an application under section 265 the Court must in effect deal with it as if it were a suit. In using the words "may apply" the legislature intended probably to indicate merely that a partner had a right to have the business wound up, the payment of the debts provided for, and the surplus distributed, by the Court. It is unlikely that there was any intention to declare that the procedure in such a case should be by way of a miscellaneous application.

3. With regard to the question of jurisdiction, the general result of the decided cases is to confine the jurisdiction to the Court of the District Judge and thus to bring on his files a number of suits many of which are unimportant and such as could be equally well decided by the subordinate tribunals. The time of all District Judges is fully occupied by their multifarious duties, and it is very undesirable that the performance of these duties should suffer in consequence of the compulsory institution in their Courts of cases the time and labour expended over which are often entirely disproportionate to the interests at stake.

4. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared. It amends section 265 so as to show plainly that proceedings thereunder are to be by way of a regular suit, and it omits the Explanation to the section, thus leaving the question of jurisdiction to be decided by the ordinary rules. The Bill also repeals the last paragraph of section 213 of the Code of Civil Procedure as the omission of the Explanation renders that paragraph unnecessary.

Circular No. $\frac{13 \text{ Ex.}}{4-4.}$

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, Department of Revenue and Agriculture, (Museums and Exhibitions),—dated Calcutta, the 14th February 1885.

RESOLUTION.

READ the following—

No. 16 E.U.B.A., dated Bombay, the 29th December 1884.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India.

I HAVE the honour to inform you that a Universal Exhibition of Fine Arts is to be held next summer at Antwerp, to which I am desired to invite the Government of India's, and through it, the Governments of the various Presidencies' official co-operation. This Exhibition, which is being organised by the Royal Society of Antwerp for the encouragement of Fine Arts, under the patronage of Government, and with the support of the Communal Administration, is to take place instead of the 24th triennial concours, and is to be opened on 2nd May next.

I beg to address you under separate cover twelve copies of the Prospectus of the said Exhibition setting forth its general rules and regulations, and shall feel very much obliged by the Government of India giving to the project the widest possible publicity.

I venture to hope that the Government of India may be graciously pleased favourably to receive the invitation I have been deputed to convey, and intended, moreover, in the interest of Artists.

May I be permitted to add, that Antwerp will, no doubt, next year, attract a considerable number of visitors of every nationality desirous of seeing the International Exhibition that is to testify to the aptitude and genius of every nation. This opportunity will be availed of to visit and contemplate the vast nautical establishments which have made Antwerp one of the first ports in Europe.

Moreover, that city, it is almost superfluous to mention, is not only a commercial centre, but has for centuries past ranked eminently amongst the world of arts, as shown by its chefs d'œuvre preserved in its Museums and Churches. A visit to Antwerp will, therefore, prove of the utmost interest for the artist as well as for the business-man and tourist.

The retrospective Exhibition of Art and Industries which it is proposed to open also in 1885 will further add to the numerous attractions of that commercial metropolis.

In conclusion, the Royal Society will organise, according to custom and with the authority of the Belgian Government, a lottery of art-objects acquired from amongst the exhibits, without distinction as to origin.

Belgium, and especially the city of Antwerp, reserves the most cordial reception to the foreign artists who, I trust, will numerously respond to the present appeal.

THE FINE-ARTS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION OF ANTWERP IN 1885.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

ART. 1.

The Fine-Arts Royal Society of Antwerp shall, under the patronage of the Belgian Government, and with the co-operation of the Antwerp Communal Administration, organise a Universal Exhibition of Fine-Arts, to take place at Antwerp in 1885, instead of the 24th Triennial Exhibition.

The ground to be assigned for the exhibition of Fine-Arts shall be close by that allotted for the exhibition of Industry, and comprise an area of over 8,000 square metres.

ART. 2.

This Universal Exhibition shall open on the 2nd May, and close in October of the said year.

ART. 3.

The sites shall be placed gratis at the disposal of exhibitors.

ART. 4.

The Belgian Government will be represented by a Commissioner-General, Count Adrian d'Oultremont, M.P., and by a Special Commissioner, Mr. Cuylits, President of the Royal Fine-Arts Society; the latter will also act as the Commissioner to the Belgian Section in the Exhibition.

The Commissioner-General representing the Government will be the corresponding official between the Society and the foreign representatives.

ART. 5.

Foreign Governments are invited to—

(1) appoint Committees, in the terms of these regulations, for inviting their respective countries taking part in the Exhibition;

(2) to accredit with the Belgian Government their respective agents to represent their exhibitors and watch over their interests.

ART. 6.

The Society's Managing Committee shall have no direct correspondence with foreign exhibitors having their respective Government representation in the terms of Art. 5.

ART. 7.

The Exhibition shall comprise—

(1) one Belgian section;

(2) as many other sections as foreign Governments there may be officially represented.

(3) or if preferable, one single section for all foreign nations.

ART. 8.

Foreign Committees should inform the Society's Managing Committee, as soon as possible, what space of ground they may possibly require.

Consequent upon this information, the Managing Committee shall, in concord with the Government Commissioner-General, proceed, without delay, to allot the sites to each foreign section in proportion to their requirements.

This allotment effected, notice shall immediately be given to the Foreign Committees that they may avail themselves of the ground thus assigned to each of them.

ART. 9.

The Exhibition will be open to the works of Belgian and foreign artists that lived up to the 1st August 1880, comprised under one of the five following classifications:—

(1) Pictures and Paintings.

(2) Drawing in pencil, Water-colours, and Miniature.

(3) Sculpture.

(4) Architecture.

(5) Engravings and Lithographing.

ART. 10.

The following shall be excluded:—

(1) Porcelain or Faience Pictures.

(2) Copies, except such as reproduce a work of art of a different design.

(3) Art-works sent in by individuals other than the artists themselves, without their authorisation or that of their assigns.

(4) Art-works included in the above five classifications that may not be duly protected by frames.

(5) Anonymous works of art.

ART. 11.

The total number of Art-works to be exhibited by Belgian artists should be limited to—

700 under the 1st classification.
100 „ the 2nd „
100 „ the 3rd „
50 „ the 4th „
50 „ the 5th „

ART. 12.

The admission of Belgian Art-works shall be decided by a Jury appointed by the Government and composed of 33 members, of which 16 will be nominated by the Government, 16 by the Society's Managing Committee and the President, who shall be the Government Special Commissioner to the Fine-Arts Universal Exhibition.

Each delegation, the Government and the Society's, should include at least 14 artist-members, five of them to be general painters, three historical painters, two statuary artists, two architects or draughtsmen, and one engraver.

The said Jury shall decide also upon the admission of Art-works from foreign artists whose Governments may not be represented in the Exhibition.

Upon settlement of this affair, the Jury shall determine what Art-works should have the most prominent location. The Jury's decision shall hold good when the quorum shall consist of the majority of their members; but for deciding upon the admission of Art-works the majority should consist of two-thirds of the members present.

Secret balloting shall be granted whenever any Jury-man applies for it.

ART. 13.

For the proper display of Art-works, the Jury appointed according to Art. 12 shall constitute a Committee composed of their President and as many members as they deem necessary, provided the Government and the Society be equally represented between them.

ART. 14.

The Society's Managing Committee shall have made out an official catalogue of the Exhibition.

ART. 15.

Belgian artists shall be allowed carriage free for their goods to and from the Exhibition but only through Belgian railways, exclusive of any dray-carting expenses.

Foreign artists should send in their goods, all charges prepaid, to the Belgian frontier and take advantage of the special tariff No. 10, that is to say, of paying simply full import-fare and no export fare.

Goods from Belgian artists abroad must be sent in, all charges prepaid up to the Belgian frontier.

ART. 16.

General surveillance over the different sections shall be guaranteed by the Society.

The Society's Managing Committee shall attend to—

(1) the decoration of the whole Belgian Section;

(2) receiving, unpacking, displaying, repacking, carriage and re-carriage of their Art-works and packages.

Foreign Commissioners shall attend to—

(1) The decoration and organisation of their Sections.

(2) The unloading and reloading of wagons, unpacking and repacking of their tapestries, &c., defraying their expenses, carriage and re-carriage of their packages, and special surveillance over their Sections during day-time.

In the management of their Sections, they should carefully look after the proper display of their goods all round, their separate classifications and ornamentations.

They shall enjoy the advantages offered by the special regulations respecting the transport, receiving, arranging, and re-shipping of their Art-works, as well as the advantages offered to foreign exhibitors by the customs tariff in the terms indicated in these regulations by the Belgian Government's General Commissioner.

ART. 17.

The despatch of goods shall be noticed by means of a certificate in triplicate, drawn up after a model to be hereafter forwarded in due time to interested parties, along with precise information as to dates, &c.

The packages of Art-works from foreign artists, whose Government may be represented according to Art. 5, should be labelled to the address of their official Committees: the Society' Managing Committee shall refuse every package not in conformity with this essential condition.

ART. 18.

An international prize-awarding Jury shall be appointed under the Government's auspices, who shall choose from among themselves their Chairman, Vice-chairman, and Secretary.

For every class of goods the number of Jurymen shall be divided between the Belgian and Foreign nations in proportion to the number of exhibitors.

ART. 19.

The Committee of each nation officially represented shall nominate what Jurymen they may be entitled to choose as well as their Chairman and Secretaries.

Jurymen that Belgium may be entitled to elect shall be nominated by the Jury of admission in the terms of Art. 13, who shall also name their Chairman and Secretary.

In the same manner they shall elect extra Jurymen to substitute the titular ones in order of seniority or other special attribute, whenever their attendance shall be required by the Jury of the class they may belong to. Their office shall cease when those whom they replace present themselves.

Exhibitors called to serve on the international jury shall not be debarred from competing for the prizes.

ART. 20.

Every international jury for each class of goods shall have a Chairman, Vice-chairman and a Secretary elected by the said jury itself.

In case of equal division of votes, the President (or Vice-president acting for him) shall have the casting vote.

ART. 21.

The nature of rewards shall be subsequently determined.

ART. 22.

The Society shall organise, as usual, with the Government sanction, a lottery of Art-works acquired from among those exhibited by Belgian or foreign artists.

ART. 23.

The Exhibition shall be kept open daily during the hours which the Society's Managing Committee shall fix.

It may, however, be closed under exceptional circumstances, should the Managing Committee deem necessary to do so.

ART. 24.

The entrance fee shall hereafter be fixed by the Society's Managing Committee.

ART. 25.

Exhibitor-artists shall be allowed each one a free ticket for the whole time the Exhibition lasts.

Such tickets shall bear the privileged receiver's signature, and be produced whenever required; if lost, under no circumstance shall they be replaced.

ART. 26.

No Art-work whatever displayed at the Exhibition shall be copied or reproduced in any shape whatsoever, unless the exhibitor or his representative consents to it by means of a special authorisation issued by the Government Commissioner-General.

ART. 27.

Nothing exhibited shall be allowed withdrawal from the Exhibition before its clôture, unless the exhibitor produces to that effect a permit in writing from the Government Commissioner-General.

ART. 28.

The goods exhibited shall be returned to the exhibitors, as soon as practicable, unless directed to the contrary after the clôture of the Exhibition.

Whatever goods exhibited, unreturned for want of sufficient packing or labels indicative to their return destination, shall be considered given up to the Society, who will dispose of them as they think fit, unless the said goods be claimed within six months by the owners.

ART. 29.

Steps shall be taken to protect the goods exhibited from theft and every kind of damage; but by no means will the Managing Committee be liable to make them good, whatever may be the extent and cause of such damages.

The exhibitors shall be, moreover, free to insure their exhibits for themselves against such losses, should they deem expedient to do so.

ART. 30.

The would-be exhibitors declare hereby to abide by these as well as any other regulations that might be promulgated hereafter.

CALCUTTA, the 2nd March 1885.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 27TH OF FEBRUARY 1885.

At the close of the preceding week, the conditions in Bengal were distinctly those of the north-east monsoon. During the first four days of the present week, however, pressure diminished rapidly at most of the Bengal stations. The decrease of pressure was particularly noticeable on the 21st in Chutia Nagpur, where it amounted to more than a tenth of an inch. This fall apparently accompanied the formation of a distinct area of low pressure over this district, and it appears to have drifted eastwards on the 22nd and 23rd, and it was still distinctly, though feebly, marked in Central Bengal on the 24th, and around it on that day winds showed a decided tendency to cyclonic circulation. These slightly disturbed conditions brought moderate rain to most of the Eastern Bengal stations on the 23rd and 24th, and to a few stations in that district on the 25th. Moderate rain was also received in some of the eastern districts of the South-West Bengal Division: the Jessore and Khoolna districts receiving the largest amounts, while less general rain fell in the Nuddea, Bankoora, and Moorshedabad districts. After this the depression gradually drifted away and disappeared, and at the close of the week the meteorological conditions in Bengal appeared to be again fairly settled. The greater part of the Province, however, was not subject to the influence of this depression, and thus during the week, except in the districts above mentioned, rainfall has been practically absent.

Pressure, as has been previously stated, diminished for the first four days of the week. the largest decrease accompanying the advance of the area of depression before noticed, For the remaining three days of the week pressure increased. Pressure has thus been distinctly below the normal in almost all districts, the average defect being equal to 0·014″. The extreme variations from the normal have been a defect of 0·022″ at Calcutta and the slight excess of 0·004″ at Dacca.

Temperature has again been below the normal at all stations, but the variations of temperature during the week have to a certain extent been the opposite of the variations of pressure, and during the early part of the week temperature generally increased and afterwards fell The average deficient temperature over the whole Province has been about 4°, and the extreme variations are from 5·9° at Gya to 2·7° at Saugor Island, Durbhunga and Hazaribagh. Temperature has been below the normal both during the day and night, as will be seen from the table which gives the normal and actual mean maximum and minimum temperature at eight typical stations for the week :—

Names of Stations.	Maximum day temperature.			Minimum night temperature.
	Normal average for week.	Actual average for week.	Difference.	Normal average for week.	Actual average for week.	Difference.

The districts in which rain has fallen during the week have already been given, and thus while South-West and East Bengal have received amounts equal to, and about twice as much as the normal respectively, in all other districts rainfall has been practically absent during the week.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 27th February 1885:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans, above alluded to, cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the members of the Select Committee, to which the Bill to extend the system of Local Self-Government in Bengal was referred, have the honour to submit this our further report.

Preliminary.

The Bill, as preliminarily amended, provided for retrospective confirmation of elections of Union Committees held before the passing of the Act. We have not considered it desirable to retain this provision.

We have provided that appointments under the Cess Act, 1880, shall hold good unless, within one year of the date on which the Act comes into force in any district, the District Board abolishes the office or makes a new appointment in respect of it.

We have introduced definitions of "Financial year" and "Cess year."

PART I.

Local Authorities.

We have made numerous changes in that Chapter of this Part which relates to the constitution of District and Local Boards. We have altered the provision under which Local Boards could only send delegates to the District Board. We have allowed the Local Boards to elect any representatives they may wish, with the proviso that only persons who may be qualified for election as members of a Local Board may be elected members of a District Board. The Bill, as preliminarily amended, secured the establishment of a Local Board only to sub-divisions to which the provision relating to Union Committees had been extended, and it secured the election of some of the members of the Local Board only to thannahs in which Union Committees had been established. We consider that the experience of the working of the elective system under the Bengal Municipal Act justifies us in extending the scope of these provisions. We have proceeded on the principle adopted in the Municipal Act, though we have inverted the method followed in it; and we have constructed a schedule of 17 districts in every sub-division of which a Local Board shall be constituted, and in which two-thirds of the members of every Local Board shall be elected. We have provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may at any time add any district to this schedule, but may only withdraw the privilege of election from a Local Board in the event of its having been superseded for misconduct. We have provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may make rules to govern elections and to regulate the qualifications of voters and of candidates for election. We have, however, secured the franchise to every male of full age residing within the jurisdiction of the Local Board who is qualified in any one of the following ways:—

(1) Is a member of a Union Committee within the area under the authority of the Local Board;

(2) Has, during the year immediately preceding such election,

(a) paid a sum of not less than one rupee on account of road cess in respect of land situated either wholly or in part within such area;

(b) paid license-tax in respect of a trade, dealing or industry, carried on within such area; or

(c) been possessed of a clear annual income from any source of not less than two hundred and forty rupees.

(3) Being a member of a joint undivided family, one of the members of which is qualified for election, is a graduate or licentiate of any university, or holds a certificate as a pleader or mookhtear.

It will be observed that we have confined the franchise to persons actually residing in the area under the authority of the Local Board. We propose, however, to admit to candidature persons with educational qualifications and local knowledge and interest, though they may not reside within the jurisdiction of the Board. The section relating to the qualifications of members runs thus:—

"The Lieutenant-Governor shall make rules, consistent with this Act, defining the qualifications of candidates for election as members of each Local Board established in a district mentioned in the third schedule of this Act:

Provided that every male person, of the full age of twenty-one years, who is qualified in one of the manners following, that is to say—

(1) Is a member of a Union Committee within the area under the authority of such Local Board:

(2) Has, during the year immediately preceding such election, had his fixed place of abode within the area under the authority of such Local Board, and

(a) paid, a sum of not less than five rupees on account of road cess, in respect of land situated, either wholly or in part, within the area under the authority of such Local Board;

(b) paid, a license-tax of not less than twenty rupees, in respect of a trade, dealing or industry carried on within the area under the authority of such Local Board; or

(c) been possessed of a clear annual income from any source of not less than one thousand rupees.

(3) Being a member of a joint undivided family, one of the members of which is qualified for election under clause (1) or clause (2) (a) or (b) of this proviso, is a graduate or licentiate of any university, or holds a certificate as a pleader or mookhtear, shall be deemed to be qualified for election as a member of such Local Board."

The provision that the Lieutenant-Governor should have power to remove a member of a District or Local Board who, without sufficient excuse, absents himself from three consecutive meetings of the Board, has been unfavourably criticised. We have substituted the provision contained in the Municipal Act, that absence, without sufficient excuse, from six consecutive meetings shall render a member liable to removal. We have omitted the provision empowering the Lieutenant-Governor to direct that any casual vacancy shall be left unfilled. Provision was introduced with the view of obviating the necessity of holding formal elections for short periods. We are of opinion, however, that the balance of advantage is in favour of leaving all vacancies to be filled in the ordinary course. We have altered section 17 of the Bill, as preliminarily amended, so as to allow a Local Board, at a meeting attended by not less than two-thirds of its members, to request the Lieutenant-Governor to appoint a Chairman. We have also inserted the following provision:—"If the Local Board fails to elect a Chairman within a period of one month from the time prescribed for such election by any rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor under this Act, or within such extended time as the Lieutenant-Governor may in his discretion allow for such election, the Lieutenant-Governor shall appoint such Chairman." We have altered section 21 so as to bring it into accord with the general section relating to the selection of a Chairman of a District Board, the Lieutenant-Governor having power, on the occasion of each vacancy, to decide whether he shall appoint the Chairman or leave the Board to elect one of its members to be Chairman, subject to his approval. The wording of the section relating to the rules made by District and Local Boards as to business and affairs was not sufficiently clear to obviate possible conflict with rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor under the Act. We have accordingly amended the section so as to provide that rules made by the Board shall be subject to the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and after receiving that sanction, shall have the force of law so long as they are consistent with the rules made by him under the Act. We have provided that rules regarding leave of absence and absentee allowances of the establishments of District Boards, and rules regarding pensions and gratuities to such establishments, shall be subject, the former to the approval of the Commissioner, and the latter to the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor.

We have made no change of any importance in Chapter II, relating to Union Committees.

PART II.

Finance.

We have provided in section 46 of the Bill, as now presented, that the rate at which the road cess is levied in any district when the Act comes into force shall not be reduced without the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor. This we consider to be a necessary condition of the extension of the elective system for which we have made provision in Part I. It is generally admitted that the present rate could not be reduced in any district without grave detriment to the public interests, and if the unrestricted power of reduction were conceded, we should be unable to recommend that payers of one rupee of road cess should be allowed to vote for the election of members of Local Boards in 17 districts. It has seemed to us better to place the constitution of these Boards on a popular basis, while safeguarding the funds to be administered by them, than to give a power which could not be exercised without injury to the public interests, while endeavouring to guard against its exercise by leaving the appointment of the members of the Board to the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor. We have done away with the distinction between the procedure to be adopted where the estimates have been approved by two-thirds of the members of the District Board, and that to be adopted where they have been approved by less than two-thirds, and have given the Commissioners the same power of dealing with them as is given in the Municipal Act in regard to the estimates of Municipalities. The changes made in the sections relating to the District Fund call for no special remark. The omission of the provision for the payment of a share of the salary of an Inspector of Local Works, and of the cost of his establishment, will be referred to further on in our report. We have considered a suggestion that the preamble of the Cess Act should be amended so as to admit of the proceeds of the road cess being amalgamated with the other sources of income of the District Board for general expenditure. As, however, the sections in the Cess Act relating to the application of the proceeds of the road cess have been expressly amended in the Bill, we do not consider any further action necessary in this connection.

PART III.

Duties and Powers of Local Authorities.

We have omitted the sections relating to the management of ferries, as this subject is being dealt with in a separate Bill. Under section 63 of the Bill, as preliminarily amended, all schools, other than primary schools in Unions and grant-in-aid schools, were made over to the management of the District Boards; and under the succeeding section power was given to the Lieutenant-Governor to exclude any particular schools or class of schools from their management. We have amended the sections relating to education so as to make it clear that all primary and middle schools under public management, other than schools for the education of Europeans and Eurasians, will be under the management of the District Board, while the Board may, with its own consent, be made responsible for the management of any other school or class of schools. Provision has also been made to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to transfer funds to the Board for expenditure on the improvement of primary schools under private management. We have omitted the section providing for the recovery of the cost of maintaining patients, who are not paupers, in hospitals. In the sections relating to Public Works, as throughout this Chapter, we have, in accordance with the instructions of the Secretary of State, omitted all language which would appear to involve a transfer of any property vested in Her Majesty. In regard to all works or buildings to be now made over, we have used the words "control and administration." We have used the word "vest" in regard only to works to be constructed by the District Board from its own funds, or hereafter in any way to be acquired by it. We have given the District Boards power, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to guarantee the interest on capital expended on works to improve the means of communication within their district or between it and other districts. We have omitted from this Part the section relating to the appointment and payment of Inspectors of Local Works. Under the present law Divisional Superintendents of Works are only appointed on the application of the District Boards concerned. We consider that, if such an officer is now paid for by the District Boards, he should be appointed by them. As, however, he will principally be required to aid the Commissioner in the exercise of his power of control, this does not appear to be practicable; and, having regard to the large interests of Government in supervising the repairs of provincial roads and buildings made over to the charge of the District Boards, we are of opinion that Government should provide officers for this duty from its own staff, and that provision for the exercise of his functions can best be made under the Part relating to Control. We have made it clear that, should the District Board be required by the Lieutenant-Governor to take a census, the cost of the work will be provided by Government. We have also made the provision of famine relief optional with the Boards, and subject to such limits of expenditure as may be prescribed by the Commissioner. In the sections relating to the miscellaneous powers of District Boards we have omitted the provisions relating to the establishment of hâts and poorhouses.

In the Chapter dealing with the duties and powers of Union Committees, we have made the following changes. We have excluded the provision relating to the payment of the salaries of the gurus of primary schools. We have limited the power of the Committees in regard to the cleansing and repair of public tanks and the like to an expenditure not exceeding one hundred rupees in each case. The section giving them power to require owners or occupiers to cleanse private tanks or lands has been objected to, and we have decided to omit it.

PART IV.

Control.

We have omitted the provision giving the Commissioner and the Magistrate of the District such of the powers of general control vested in the Lieutenant-Governor as he may confer upon them by rules. We are of opinion that the specific provisions defining their powers in regard to control are sufficient. We have considered it unnecessary to deprive the Magistrate of the District of powers in regard to inspection, suspension of the action of a local authority, and execution of works in cases of emergency, when he is Chairman of the District Board. We have altered section 128 of the Bill, as preliminarily amended, so as to make it incumbent upon the Commissioner to submit to the Lieutenant-Governor copies of proceedings in those cases only in which he has confirmed, or upheld with modifications, an order of the Magistrate of the District. We have amplified the section relating to disputes so as to provide for the settlement of such matters, as far as possible, by the authorities immediately superior to the authorities concerned.

We have altered the section relating to the liability of members of local authorities so as to make it exclusive rather than inclusive. We have also amended the section prescribing a penalty on a member or servant of a local authority being interested in its contracts. Instead of declaring the offence to be one punishable under the Indian Penal Code, we have fixed a specific punishment. We have at the same time expressly saved shareholders in joint stock companies contracting with a local authority, persons interested in newspapers publishing its advertisements, and holders of debentures or other security issued by the authority. We have decided not to exclude from the operation of this section persons professionally engaged on behalf of a local authority as legal practitioners.

We recommend that the Bill as now amended be passed.

CALCUTTA, the 6th March 1885.

I AGREE with the recommendations of the Select Committee with the exception of the concluding one. I am not satisfied that the measure is required, or that it will be useful. There is no general desire for such a measure as the present, and a large number of the opinions elicited condemn the present Bill as too narrow. The measure is an experiment, and one which is calculated to excite expectations which may be difficult to realise. From an administrative point of view, it can hardly be contended that the measure will be an improvement; and it will certainly not have the effect of relieving the Executive of any part of its burdens.

Minutes of the proceedings at each meeting of a District Board or Local Board shall be drawn up and recorded in a book to be kept for the purpose, and shall be signed by the Chairman of the meeting, and shall be published in such manner as the Lieutenant-Governor may, from time to time, direct, and shall at all reasonable times and without charge, be open to the inspection of any person resident within, or owning or holding land within, the jurisdiction of such Board.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th February, 1885, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 3 OF 1885.

A Bill to amend section 265 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend section 265 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872; It is hereby enacted as follows:— IX of 1872.

New section substituted for section 265, Indian Contract Act.

1. For section 265 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"265. In the absence of any contract to the contrary, after the termination of a partnership, the Court may at the suit of any one of the partners or his representatives wind up the business of the firm, provide for the payment of its debts, and distribute the surplus according to the shares of the partners respectively."

Right of partners to sue for winding-up by Court after termination of partnership.

2. In section 213 of the Code of Civil Procedure the words and figures from and including the word "applications" to the end of the section are hereby repealed. XIV of 1882.

Repeal of part of section 213, Act XIV 1882.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SECTION 265 of the Indian Contract Act provides that, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, after the termination of a partnership, each partner or his representatives may apply to the Court to wind up the business of the firm, to provide for the payment of its debts and to distribute the surplus according to the shares of the partners respectively. It is explained that the Court mentioned in the section means a Court not inferior to the Court of a District Judge within the limits of whose jurisdiction the place or principal place of business of the firm is situated. This section has been the subject of various decisions by the Calcutta and other High Courts, first as to the meaning of the words "may apply", and secondly with regard to the jurisdiction of the Courts in the case of applications under the section.

2. The use of the words "may apply" has given rise to doubts as to whether the legislature intended that proceedings under the section should be by way of miscellaneous application or by way of regular suit. It is considered that where a partner wishes to have the business of the firm wound up, the debts paid and the surplus distributed, he should proceed by instituting a regular suit. The questions which the Court has to consider in such a case cannot well be decided in a summary manner on a miscellaneous application, and in disposing of an application under section 265 the Court must in effect deal with it as if it were a suit. In using the words "may apply" the legislature intended probably to indicate merely that a partner had a right to have the business wound up, the payment of the debts provided for, and the surplus distributed, by the Court. It is unlikely that there was any intention to declare that the procedure in such a case should be by way of a miscellaneous application.

3. With regard to the question of jurisdiction, the general result of the decided cases is to confine the jurisdiction to the Court of the District Judge and thus to bring on his files a number of suits many of which are unimportant and such as could be equally well decided by the subordinate tribunals. The time of all District Judges is fully occupied by their multifarious duties, and it is very undesirable that the performance of these duties should suffer in consequence of the compulsory institution in their Courts of cases the time and labour expended over which are often entirely disproportionate to the interests at stake.

4. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared. It amends section 265 so as to show plainly that proceedings thereunder are to be by way of a regular suit, and it omits the Explanation to the section, thus leaving the question of jurisdiction to be decided by the ordinary rules. The Bill also repeals the last paragraph of section 213 of the Code of Civil Procedure as the omission of the Explanation renders that paragraph unnecessary.

Statement in declaration under section 6 of Act X of 1870 that mines not needed.

(2) If any such statement is inserted in the declaration, any mines of coal, iron-stone, slate or other minerals under the land or portion of the land specified in the declaration, except as aforesaid, shall not, when the Collector takes possession of the land under section 16 or section 17 of the said Act, vest in the Government.

3. If the owner, lessee or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under any land so acquired is desirous of working or getting the same, he shall give the Local Government notice in writing of his intention so to do thirty days before the commencement of working. [cf. 8 Vic., c. 20, s. 78.]

Inspection of mines by Local Government.

The Land Acquisition (Mines) Bill, 1885.
(Sections 5-12.)

[cf. 8 Vic., c. 20, s. 78.]

If Local Government offers to pay compensation, mines not to be worked.

5. (1) If it appears to the Local Government that the working or getting of the mines or minerals, or any part thereof, is likely to cause damage to the surface of the land or any works thereon, the Local Government may at any time before the expiration of thirty days from the receipt of the notice under section 3 offer either—

(a) to pay compensation for the mines or minerals or part thereof to the owner, lessee or occupier thereof; or

(b) to pay compensation to the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines or minerals, or part thereof, in consideration of his working or getting them in such manner and subject to such restrictions as the Local Government may in its offer specify.

(2) If the offer mentioned in case (a) is made, then the owner, lessee or occupier shall not work or get the mines or minerals or part thereof;

(3) If the offer mentioned in case (b) is made, then the owner, lessee or occupier shall not work or get the mines or minerals, or part thereof, save in the manner and subject to the restrictions specified by the Local Government.

[cf. 8 Vic., c. 20, s. 78.]

Amount of compensation to be determined under Act X of 1870.

6. If the Local Government and the owner, lessee or occupier of any such mines or minerals, do not agree as to the amount of compensation to be paid under the last foregoing section, the same shall be settled in accordance with the procedure prescribed by the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, for determining the amount of compensation.

[cf. 8 Vic., c. 20, s. 79.]

If Local Government does not offer to pay compensation, mines may be worked in a proper manner.

7. (1) If before the expiration of the said thirty days the Local Government does not offer to pay any compensation to the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines or minerals for any loss he may sustain as provided in section 5, the owner, lessee or occupier may work the mines, or any part thereof, in a manner proper and necessary for the beneficial working thereof, and according to the usual manner of working such mines in the local area where the same are situate.

(2) If any damage or obstruction is caused to the surface of the land or any works thereon by improper working of the mines, the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines or minerals shall at once at his own expense repair the damage or remove the obstruction, as the case may require.

(3) If the repair or removal is not at once effected, or, if the Local Government so thinks fit, without waiting for the same to be effected by the owner, lessee or occupier, the Local Government may execute the same and recover from the owner, lessee or occupier the expense occasioned thereby.

Power to officer of Local Government to enter and inspect the working of mines.

8. For better ascertaining whether any such mines are being worked or have been worked so as to damage the land acquired or the works thereon, an officer appointed for this purpose by the Local Government may, after giving twenty-four hours' notice in writing, enter on any land in or near which the land acquired is situate, and wherein any such mines are being worked or are supposed to be worked, and enter into and return from any such mines or the works connected therewith; and for that purpose the officer so appointed may make use of any apparatus or machinery belonging to the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines, and use all necessary means for discovering the distance from the land acquired to the parts of the mines which are being worked or about to be worked.

Penalty for refusal to allow inspection.

9. If any owner, lessee or occupier of any such mines refuses to allow any officer appointed by the Local Government for that purpose to enter into and inspect any such mines or works in manner aforesaid, every person so offending shall for every such refusal forfeit to the Local Government a sum not exceeding two hundred rupees.

If mines improperly worked, Local Government may require means to be adopted for safety of land acquired.

10. If it appears that any such mines have been worked contrary to the provisions of this Act, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, give notice to the owner, lessee or occupier thereof to construct such works and to adopt such means as may be necessary or proper for making safe the land acquired, and preventing injury thereto; and, if after such notice any such owner, lessee or occupier does not forthwith proceed to construct the works necessary for making safe the land acquired, the Local Government may itself construct the works and recover the expense thereof from the owner, lessee or occupier.

Construction of Act when land acquired has been transferred to a Company.

11. When a statement under section 2 has been made regarding any land and the land has been acquired for a Company and has been transferred by the Local Government to the Company, then sections 3 to 10, both inclusive, shall be read as if for the words "the Local Government" wherever they occur in those sections the words "the Company which has acquired the land" were substituted.

Definition of Company.

12. In this Act "Company" means a Company registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or by Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

VI of 1882.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide for cases in which mines or minerals are situate under land which it is desired to acquire under the Land Acquisition Act, 1870.

2. Act XXII of 1863, which was replaced by the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, contained specific provisions (sections 51 and 52) for cases in which mines and minerals lay under land taken up under that Act. These provisions were not, however, re-enacted in the Act of 1870, which, as the Government is advised, contemplates the acquisition of the underlying minerals as well as the surface of the land.

3. Hitherto this state of the law has caused no inconvenience. Now, however, owing to its being proposed to extend railways across districts where there is a certain amount of coal to be found, notice has been drawn to the inconvenience of the existing law which practically compels the Government either to purchase all the mines and minerals under the land over which it is proposed to construct a line or to abandon the undertaking altogether.

4. Under these circumstances, the present Bill has been prepared. It does not, however, simply re-enact the provisions which Act XXII of 1863 formerly contained, inasmuch as they do not appear to be adapted to the circumstances of the case. It follows rather the rules contained in the English Railway Clauses Consolidation Act, 1845, (8 Vic., c. 20, ss. 77 et seq.) which it extends to the acquisition of land for all purposes and not merely for the construction of Railways.

5. It provides, first, (section 2) that when a declaration is made by the Local Government under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, insert in the declaration a statement that any mines or minerals lying under the land to be acquired are not needed, and that if any such statement is inserted in the declaration, the mines or minerals lying under the land shall not, when the Collector takes possession of the land under section 16 or section 17 of the Act, vest in the Government.

6. It then (section 3) declares that if the owner, lessee or occupier of any mines or minerals lying under any land so acquired is desirous of working the same, he shall give the local Government notice in writing of his intention so to do thirty days before the commencement of working.

7. Next (section 4), the Bill empowers the local Government to cause the mines or minerals to be inspected by a person appointed by it for the purpose.

8. If it appears (section 5) to the local Government that the working of the mines or minerals is likely to cause damage to the surface of the land or any works thereon, the Local Government may at any time before the expiration of thirty days from the receipt of the notice, offer either—

(a) to pay compensation for the mines or minerals to the owner, lessee or occupier ;

(b) to pay compensation to the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines or minerals in consideration of his working or getting them in such manner and subject to such restrictions, as the Local Government may in its offer specify.

If the offer mentioned in case (a) is made, then the owner, lessee or occupier is prohibited from working the mines or minerals, whilst if the offer mentioned in case (b) is made, then he may not work or get the mines or minerals, save in the manner and subject to the restrictions specified by the local Government.

9. The Bill next provides (section 6) for the manner in which the amount of compensation to be paid under section 5 is to be determined.

10. Should, however, the local Government not offer to pay any compensation, section 7 permits the owner, lessee or occupier of the mines or minerals to work the mines in a manner proper and necessary for the beneficial working thereof, and according to the usual manner of working such mines in the local area where the same are situate. Should any damage or obstruction be caused by improper working of the mines, the section provides for the repairing of the damage or the removal of the obstruction by or at the cost of the owner, lessee or occupier.

11. Sections 8 and 9 provide for the inspection of mines for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are being worked or have been worked so as to damage the land which has been acquired and section 10 declares that if any mines have been improperly worked, the Local Government may require the owner, lessee or occupier thereof to construct such works and to adopt such means as may be necessary for making safe the land acquired and preventing injury thereto.

12. Lastly, section 11 makes the provisions of sections 8 to 10 applicable to cases where the land acquired has been transferred to a company, and section 12 defines what the term "Company" as used in the Bill means.

LIBERALITY DISPLAYED BY MESSRS. FINLAY, MUIR & Co. IN PROVIDING A SUPPLY OF DRINKING WATER IN CERTAIN BUSTEES IN SERAMPORE.

The following correspondence is published for general information.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 725, dated Calcutta, the 10th March 1885.

From—COLMAN MACAULAY, ESQ., Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your memorandum No. 74, dated the 27th ultimo, with which you submit, for the information of Government, a copy of a letter from the Sub-Divisional Officer, Serampore, reporting that Messrs. Finlay, Muir & Co., Agents for the Wellington Jute Mills, have, at considerable expense, made arrangements for the supply of good drinking water for the use of their workmen and the residents of the Mahesh and Rishra bustees, where a severe outbreak of cholera took place towards the close of the past year. The firm have furnished a similar supply of water for their operatives and for the residents generally of the Champdani bustee, and the result has been a marked improvement in the health of the locality.

2. In reply, I am desired to request that you will be good enough to convey to Messrs. Finlay, Muir & Co. the acknowledgments of Government for the useful work done by them.

3. The correspondence will be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

No. 74, dated Burdwan, the 27th February 1885.

Memo by—JOHN BEAMES, Esq., Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

COPY submitted to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department, with the recommendation that the liberality of the Company may be suitably acknowledged.

No 108, dated Serampore, the 6th February 1885.

From—F. R. S. COLLIER, Esq., Sub-Divisional Officer of Serampore,

To—The Magistrate of Hooghly.

I HAVE the honour to report that Messrs. Finlay, Muir and Company, the Agents for the Wellington Jute Mills, have recently, at considerable expense, executed a most admirable sanitary work for the benefit of their labourers and the other residents of the Mahesh and Rishra bustees. The work is all the more important, as it was in these bustees that the recent severe outbreak of cholera took place.

2. At the request of Mr. Struth, the manager of the mills, I recently inspected the work in question. A large iron boiler, capable of holding 7,300 gallons of water, has been set up upon a masonry foundation, and is kept always full by water being pumped into it daily by steam-power. The water is taken from the boiler by means of a tap. The whole work, including the value of the boiler, cost approximately Rs. 5,000.

3. At present water is supplied direct from the river. On my suggestion, however, the boiled water from the mill cooling tanks will be supplied in future. As this water has been heated to at least 140° F, it must be tolerably free from organic matter.

4. The same Company have furnished a similar supply of water for their operatives and the other residents of the Champdani bustee, and since they have done so, a marked improvement in the health of the place has been the result. Cholera, formerly very prevalent there, has almost entirely disappeared.

5. The liberality of the Company, and their solicitude for the health and convenience of their operatives, is very creditable to them, and, I would venture to suggest, deserves the special recognition of Government. It is to be hoped that their example will be generally followed elsewhere.

ALEXANDER PEDLER,

METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL SUMMARY OF THE PROVINCE OF BENGAL FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1885.

THE normal meteorological conditions obtaining in the Province of Bengal during the month of February are those of the commencement of the transition from the cold to the hot season. The most important feature is undoubtedly the rapid increase of temperature which usually commences this month, and which is continued during the following two or three months. The rapid increase of temperature is due to the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, and from well known principles, this heating effect is much more pronounced and clearly marked over the land area than over the sea. Temperature therefore not only increases rapidly, but also at different rates in different parts of the country, determined mainly by their position with reference to the sea and with reference to neighbouring ranges of hills.

The seat of maximum temperature in the actual cold-weather months is generally in Southern India, but with the rapidly increasing elevation of the sun, the seat of maximum temperature passes northwards until at the close of the month the hottest parts of India are the western and northern parts of the Deccan. As pointed out previously, a land area is very much more rapidly heated than a sea area, and consequently in Bengal the air over the land surface becomes hotter than that over the sea, and the dry northerly winds of the north-east monsoon are gradually replaced by southerly moist winds. The change usually commences on the coast of Orissa and South-West Bengal, where the winds are at first very local, but the southerly winds, produced of course by similar causes acting over the whole of Northern India, gradually extend their influence seaward and landward, until they finally replace the north-east monsoon winds by the south-west monsoon current. The establishment of the southerly moist winds in Bengal is not, however, a steady and continuous process, but usually a series of oscillations takes place before the southerly winds become thoroughly established, the number and extent of which probably depend on the strength of the previous north-east monsoon, and on the strength of the southerly winds produced by the unequal heating effect of the sun's rays over the land and sea area.

The normal conditions of February in Bengal are therefore comparatively simple Temperature increases steadily and rapidly; winds are light and in some cases very variable, usually alternating between north-west and south-west along the sea-coast. In the interior the air is dry, but near the coast it is subject to sudden changes according as the wind shifts from north to south. The sky is generally clear and little or no rain falls, unless the normal meteorological conditions are reversed by occasional disturbances. The disturbances which may occur are of two or three kinds. The first are those which have been termed in previous reports north-east monsoon storms, which commence as barometric depressions over Northern India, and drift eastwards and southwards, generally reaching as far as Behar, and in some cases entering Bengal. A second kind of disturbance appears to be due to the interaction of the northerly and southerly wind currents, which apparently results in ascensional motion of the air, and with the rising of the moist winds cloud is formed, and such actions are frequently attendetd by the precipitation of rain. In certain cases, too, from causes difficult to explain and still more difficult to foresee, though probably connected with vertical ascending air motion, the barometer falls locally over Bengal, the sky clouds over and rain falls. The last class of disturbances which generally occur only towards the end of the month or the commencement of March are more local in character, and are probably also due to interaction between the dry land winds and the southerly moist winds. These storms are known as nor'westers, and they bring strong winds, and in many cases heavy rain, and those occurring in February are frequently noticeable from being accompanied by hail.

The average normal rainfall for the month over the Province is small, though somewhat larger than in January. It averages half an inch in Behar, about three quarters of an inch in North Bengal, Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, and a little over an inch in East and South-West Bengal.

The chief features in the meteorology of the past month are—

1. Slightly deficient pressure in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South-West Bengal, with slight excess pressure in other districts.
2. Diminished temperature in all districts.
3. Comparative dryness of the air.
4. Frequence of slight disturbances in Orissa, South-West Bengal, East Bengal and Chutia Nagpur.
5. Largely increased cloud proportion in all districts.
6. Excess of rainfall in Orissa, South-West and East Bengal, slight excess in Chutia Nagpur, and defect in North Bengal and North and South Behar.

Pressure was during the first week of the month decidedly below the normal in Orissa, South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur, but in other districts it was slightly in excess; the same features of low pressure in Orissa and South-West Bengal were again noticeable in the second week of the month, being influenced by low pressure in the Deccan and Central Provinces. In the third week pressure was slightly below the normal in all districts and particularly so in Orissa, and again in the fourth week it was below the normal in all districts. The variations from the normal were, however, in no case large, and the greatest defect was in Orissa, where it equalled 0·02″; in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur the defect was about 0·01,″ and the excess pressure in the other districts was generally less than 0·01″.

Temperature at the commencement of the month was slightly below the normal in all districts except Orissa and North Behar. In the second week of the month all districts except Orissa shewed a reduced temperature, and in the third week all districts were below the normal, and this continued to be the case till the end of the month. The extreme variation from the normal has been a defect of 5·4° at Gya, but the average defect over the whole Province was only equal to 3·7°. The humidity of the air has also been lower than usual, the average defect equalling about five per cent.

The variation in the other three features of the meteorology of the month has been caused by the comparative frequence of slight disturbances of the kinds noted above. At the close of the previous month, southerly winds had set in over the coast area, and interaction with the northerly winds ensued, causing clouded skies and light rain during the first two days over the greater part of Orissa, South-West Bengal and East Bengal. A few days later a large barometric depression was formed over Northern India, and it advanced and its area extended till on the 5th and 6th it brought general and in some cases heavy rain to South-West Bengal, East Bengal, and to some parts of Chutia Nagpur, North Bengal and Behar. In the second week of the month a very prominent feature was again the low pressure in the Deccan and Central Provinces, and this extended to Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and some parts of South-West Bengal. In consequence of these disturbed conditions rain again fell on the 10th, 11th and 12th in Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal and Orissa, besides showers in other districts. The disturbed conditions continued in Orissa and some parts of Bengal during the third week of the month, and rain showers were frequent in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur, while during the last few days of the month a small and very feeble area of barometric depression drifted to the east from the Central Provinces and Chutia Nagpur, and gave light general rain to East Bengal and some parts of South-West Bengal. Slight disturbances have therefore been frequent during the month, and, as may be expected, the sky has been much more clouded than usual, and the number of rainy days has been large, and rain has fallen in more than normal quantity in the southern and western districts of the Province.

The comparative frequence of storms during February is shown by the fact that in Orissa the average number of rainy days in the month has been 6·6 against the normal average of 1·7, and the average fall of rain has been 3·32 inches against the normal 0·81 inch. In South-West Bengal there have been 5·1 rainy days against the normal 2·2, and 2·04 inches of rain against the normal fall of 1·10 inches. In East Bengal there was an average of five rainy days against the normal 2·4 days, and 2·00 inches of rain against the normal fall of 1·13 inches. In Chutia Nagpur again there were 4·1 rainy days against the normal number 2·1, and 1·11 inches of rain against the normal amount 0·84 inch. On the other hand, as previously explained, in North Bengal and Behar the number of rainy days was smaller than usual, and the rainfall also much below the normal. In North Behar in particular there was practically no rain during the month.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven Meteorological Divisions of the Province for the month of February 1885 :—

CALCUTTA, the 10th March 1885.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 6TH OF MARCH 1885.

At the commencement of the week, southerly and south-westerly moist winds were blowing over South Bengal, and the weather was fine and appeared settled. A rather rapid decrease of pressure, however, took place on that day, which continued on the following day. This resulted in the formation of a distinct area of low pressure over Behar, South-West Bengal, and a part of Orissa. The sky rapidly clouded over in many parts of the Province, and rain was reported on the 1st and 2nd, and in some cases on the 3rd. The area over which rain was received was generally the Bankoora, Burdwan, Beerbhoom, Nuddea, and Moorshedabad districts in South-West Bengal; Mymensingh in East Bengal; and most of the districts in Chutia Nagpur, North Bengal and South Behar, together with parts of North Behar. On the 3rd pressure generally increased, but only to be followed by a further fall on the 4th, when a distinct area of low pressure was developed in Chutia Nagpur. This was followed on the 5th by rain in Chutia Nagpur, Behar, and North Bengal. Again, therefore, except in Orissa, light rain has been fairly general over the Province, and the largest amounts have been received in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar; North Behar and North Bengal receiving rather smaller amounts, while South-West and East Bengal have received comparatively very small amounts of rain. Southerly winds have become decidedly more general during the week than has previously been the case, and from by far the greater number of the Bengal stations, both near the coast and inland, southerly winds are now reported.

Notwithstanding the falls of pressure during the week which have been previously noted, the mean pressure has been very decidedly above the normal. The excess pressure has varied between 0·111″ at Durbhunga to 0·047″ at Hazaribagh, the average excess over the whole Province being equal to about 0·07″.

Temperature on the other hand has been in most instances below the normal, but usually by small amounts only. The average defect over the whole Province is about equal to 1°, and an examination of the temperature data shows that, while the night temperatures have been generally rather in excess, the days have been comparatively cool. This is seen in the following table, where the normal and actual average maximum and minimum temperatures for the week are given for eight selected stations.

Names of Stations.	Maximum day temperature.			Minimum night temperature.

Hazaribagh	83·4	82·6	—0·8	58·4	61·2	+2·8

The rainfall for the week has been dealt with previously, and it may be summed up by saying that Chutia Nagpur and Behar have received about four times the normal fall for the week, North Bengal has received just the normal fall, South-West and East Bengal report from a quarter to a fifth of the usual quantity, while no rain at all fell in Orissa.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the week ending Friday, the 6th March 1885 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2°·1 lower; and finally, the thermometer, which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

2. The highest proportions of births and deaths were returned from the following Municipalities :—

(2) raiyats, and

(3) under-raiyats, that is to say, tenants holding whether immediately or mediately under raiyats;

and the following classes of raiyats, (namely) :—

(a) raiyats holding at fixed rates, which expression means raiyats holding either at a rent fixed in perpetuity or at a rate of rent fixed in perpetuity,

(b) occupancy-raiyats, that is to say, raiyats having a right of occupancy in the land held by them, and

(c) non-occupancy-raiyats, that is to say, raiyats not having such a right of occupancy.

Meaning of "tenure-holder" and "raiyat".

5. (1) "Tenure-holder" means primarily a person who has acquired from a proprietor or from another tenure-holder a right to hold land for the purpose of collecting rents or bringing it under cultivation by establishing tenants on it, and includes also the successors in interest of persons who have acquired such a right.

(3) A person shall not be deemed to be a raiyat unless he holds land either immediately under a proprietor or immediately under a tenure-holder.

(4) In determining whether a tenant is a tenure-holder or a raiyat, the Court shall have regard to—

(a) local custom; and

(b) the purpose for which the right of tenancy was originally acquired.

(5) Where the area held by a tenant exceeds one hundred standard bighás, the tenant shall be presumed to be a tenure-holder until the contrary is shewn.

CHAPTER III.

Tenure-holders.

Enhancement of rent.

Enhancement of rent.

Tenure held since Permanent Settlement liable to enhancement only in certain cases.

6. Where a tenure has been held from the time of the Permanent Settlement, its rent shall not be liable to enhancement except on proof—

(a) that the landlord under whom it is held is entitled to enhance the rent thereof either by local custom or by the conditions under which the tenure is held, or

(b) that the tenure-holder, by receiving reductions of his rent, otherwise than on account of a diminution of the area of the tenure, has subjected himself to the payment of the increase demanded, and that the lands are capable of affording it.

Limits of enhancement of rent of tenures.

7. (1) Where the rent of a tenure-holder is liable to enhancement, it may, subject to any contract between the parties, be enhanced up to the limit of the customary rate payable by persons holding similar tenures in the vicinity.

(2) Where no such customary rate exists, it may, subject as aforesaid, be enhanced up to such limit as the Court thinks fair and equitable.

ancement ent.

(3) In determining what is fair and equitable, the Court shall not leave to the tenure-holder as profit less than ten per centum of the balance which remains after deducting from the gross rents payable to him the expenses of collecting them, and shall have regard to—

(a) the circumstances under which the tenure was created, for instance, whether the land comprised in the tenure, or a great portion of it, was first brought under cultivation by the agency or at the expense of the tenure-holder or his predecessors in interest, whether any fine or premium was paid on the creation of the tenure, and whether the tenure was originally created at a specially low rent for the purpose of reclamation; and

(b) the improvements, if any, made by the tenure-holder or his predecessors in interest.

(4) If the tenure-holder himself occupies any portion of the land included in the area of his tenure, or has made a grant of any portion of the land either rent-free or at a beneficial rent, a fair and equitable rent shall be calculated for that portion and included in the gross rents aforesaid.

Power to order gradual enhancement.

8. The Court may, if it thinks that an immediate increase of rent would produce hardship, direct that the enhancement shall be gradual; that is to say, that the rent shall increase yearly by degrees, for any number of years not exceeding five, until the limit of the enhancement allowed has been reached.

Rent once enhanced may not be altered for fifteen years

9. When the rent of a tenure-holder has been enhanced by the Court or by contract, it shall not be again enhanced by the Court during the fifteen years next following the date on which it has been so enhanced.

(2) A registering officer shall not register any instrument purporting or operating to transfer by sale, gift or mortgage a permanent tenure unless there is paid to him, in addition to any fees payable under the Act for the time being in force for the registration of documents, a process-fee of the prescribed amount and a fee (hereinafter called "the landlord's fee") of the following amount, namely:—

(a) when rent is payable in respect of the tenure, a fee of two per centum on the annual rent of the tenure: provided that no such fee shall be less than one rupee or more than one hundred rupees; and

(b) when rent is not payable in respect of the tenure, a fee of two rupees.

Transfer of permanent tenure by sale in execution of decree other than decree for rent.

13. (1) When a permanent tenure is sold in execution of a decree other than a decree for arrears of rent due in respect thereof, the Court shall, before confirming the sale under section 312 of the Code of Civil Procedure, require the purchaser to pay into Court the landlord's fee prescribed by the last foregoing section and such further fee for service of notice of the sale on the landlord as may be prescribed.

XIV of 1882.

CHAPTER V.

OCCUPANCY-RAIYATS.

General.

General.

Continuance of existing occupancy-rights.

19. Every raiyat who immediately before the commencement of this Act has, by the operation of any enactment, by custom or otherwise, a right of occupancy in any land shall, when this Act comes into force, have a right of occupancy in that land.

Definition of "settled raiyat".

20. (1) Every person who for a period of twelve years, whether wholly or partly before or after the commencement of this Act, has continuously held as a raiyat land situate in any village, whether under a lease or otherwise, shall be deemed to have become, on the expiration of that period, a settled raiyat of that village.

(2) A person shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to have continuously held land in a village notwithstanding that the particular land held by him has been different at different times. General.

(3) A person shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have held as a raiyat any land held as a raiyat by a person whose heir he is.

(5) A person shall continue to be a settled raiyat of a village as long as he holds any land as a raiyat in that village and for one year thereafter.

(6) If a raiyat recovers possession of land under section 87, he shall be deemed to have continued to be a settled raiyat notwithstanding his having been out of possession more than a year.

(7) If, in any proceeding under this Act, it is proved or admitted that a person holds any land as a raiyat, it shall, as between him and the landlord under whom he holds the land, be presumed for the purposes of this section, until the contrary is proved or admitted, that he has for twelve years continuously held that land or some part of it as a raiyat.

Settled raiyats to have occupancy-rights.

21. (1) Every person who is a settled raiyat of a village within the meaning of the last foregoing section shall have a right of occupancy in all land for the time being held by him as a raiyat in that village.

Effect of acquisition of occupancy-right by landlord.

22. (1) When the immediate landlord of an occupancy-holding is a proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, and the entire interests of the landlord and the raiyat in the holding become united in the same person by transfer, succession or otherwise, the occupancy-right shall cease to exist; but nothing in this sub-section shall prejudicially affect the rights of any third person.

(2) If the occupancy-right in land is transferred to a person jointly interested in the land as proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, it shall cease to exist; but nothing in this sub-section shall prejudicially affect the rights of any third person.

(3) A person holding land as an ijárádár or farmer of rents shall not, while so holding, acquire a right of occupancy in any land comprised in his ijárá or farm.

Incidents of occupancy-right.

Incidents of occupancy-right.

Rights of raiyat in respect of use of land.

23. When a raiyat has a right of occupancy in respect of any land, he may use the land in any manner which does not materially impair the value of the land or render it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy; but shall not be entitled to cut down trees in contravention of any local custom.

Obligation of raiyat to pay rent.

24. An occupancy-raiyat shall pay rent for his holding at fair and equitable rates.

Protection from eviction except on specified grounds.

25. An occupancy-raiyat shall not be ejected by his landlord from his holding, except in execution of a decree for ejectment passed on the ground—

(a) that he has used the land comprised in his holding in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or

(b) that he has broken a condition consistent with the provisions of this Act, and on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between himself and his landlord, liable to be ejected.

Devolution of occupancy-right on death.

26. If a raiyat dies intestate in respect of a right of occupancy, it shall, subject to any custom to the contrary, descend in the same manner as other immoveable property: provided that, in any case in which under the law of inheritance to which the raiyat is subject his other property goes to the Crown, his right of occupancy shall be extinguished.

Enhancement of rent.

Enhancement of rent.

Presumption as to fair and equitable rent.

27. The rent for the time being payable by an occupancy-raiyat shall be presumed to be fair and equitable until the contrary is proved.

Restriction on enhancement of money-rents.

28. Where an occupancy-raiyat pays his rent in money, his rent shall not be enhanced except as provided by this Act.

Enhancement of rent by contract.

29. The money-rent of an occupancy-raiyat may be enhanced by contract, subject to the following conditions:—

(a) the contract must be in writing and registered;

(b) the rent must not be enhanced so as to exceed by more than two annas in the rupee the rent previously payable by the raiyat;

Enhancement of rent.

(c) the rent fixed by the contract shall not be liable to enhancement during a term of fifteen years from the date of the contract;

Provided as follows—

(i) Nothing in clause (a) shall prevent a landlord from recovering rent at the rate at which it has been actually paid for a continuous period of not less than three years immediately preceding the period for which the rent is claimed.

(ii) Nothing in clause (b) shall apply to a contract by which a raiyat binds himself to pay an enhanced rent in consideration of an improvement which has been or is to be effected in respect of the holding by, or at the expense of, his landlord, and to the benefit of which the raiyat is not otherwise entitled; but an enhanced rent fixed by such a contract shall be payable only when the improvement has been effected, and, except when the raiyat is chargeable with default in respect of the improvement, only so long as the improvement exists and substantially produces its estimated effect in respect of the holding.

(iii) When a raiyat has held his land at a specially low rate of rent in consideration of cultivating a particular crop for the convenience of the landlord, nothing in clause (b) shall prevent the raiyat from agreeing, in consideration of his being released from the obligation of cultivating that crop, to pay such rent as he may deem fair and equitable.

Enhancement of rent by suit.

30. The landlord of a holding held at a money-rent by an occupancy-raiyat may, subject to the provisions of this Act, institute a suit to enhance the rent on one or more of the following grounds, (namely):—

(a) that the rate of rent paid by the raiyat is below the prevailing rate paid by occupancy-raiyats for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the same village, and that there is no sufficient reason for his holding at so low a rate;

(b) that there has been a rise in the average local prices of staple food-crops during the currency of the present rent;

(c) that the productive powers of the land held by the raiyat have been increased by an improvement effected by, or at the expense of, the landlord during the currency of the present rent;

(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Secs. 31-36.)

(d) that the productive powers of the land held by the raiyat have been increased by fluvial action.

Explanation.—"Fluvial action" includes a change in the course of a river rendering irrigation from the river practicable when it was not previously practicable.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of prevailing rate.

31. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground that the rate of rent paid is below the prevailing rate—

(a) in determining what is the prevailing rate the Court shall have regard to the rates generally paid during a period of not less than three years before the institution of the suit, and shall not decree an enhancement unless there is a substantial difference between the rate paid by the raiyat and the prevailing rate found by the Court;

(b) if in the opinion of the Court the prevailing rate of rent cannot be satisfactorily ascertained without a local inquiry, the Court may direct that a local inquiry be held under Chapter XXV of the Code of Civil Procedure by such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may authorize in that behalf by rules made under section 392 of the said Code;

XIV of 1882.

(c) in determining under this section the rate of rent payable by a raiyat his caste shall not be taken into consideration, unless it is proved that by local custom caste is taken into account in determining the rate; and whenever it is found that by local custom any description of raiyats hold land at favourable rates of rent, the rate shall be determined in accordance with that custom;

(d) in ascertaining the prevailing rate of rent the amount of any enhancement authorized on account of a landlord's improvement shall not be taken into consideration.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of rise in prices.

32. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of a rise in prices—

(a) the Court shall compare the average prices during the decennial period immediately preceding the institution of the suit with the average prices during such other decennial period as it may appear equitable and practicable to take for comparison;

Enhancement of rent.

(c) if in the opinion of the Court it is not practicable to take the decennial periods prescribed in clause (a), the Court may, in its discretion, substitute any shorter periods therefor.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of landlord's improvement.

33. (1) Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of a landlord's improvement—

(a) the Court shall not grant an enhancement unless the improvement has been registered in accordance with this Act;

(b) in determining the amount of enhancement the Court shall have regard to—

(i) the increase in the productive powers of the land caused or likely to be caused by the improvement,

(ii) the cost of the improvement,

(iii) the cost of the cultivation required for utilizing the improvement, and

(iv) the existing rent and the ability of the land to bear a higher rent.

(2) A decree under this section shall, on the application of the tenant or his successor in interest, be subject to re-consideration in the event of the improvement not producing or ceasing to produce the estimated effect.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of increase in productive powers due to fluvial action.

34. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of an increase in productive powers due to fluvial action—

(a) the Court shall not take into account any increase which is merely temporary or casual;

(b) the Court may enhance the rent to such an amount as it may deem fair and equitable, but not so as to give the landlord more than one-half of the value of the net increase in the produce of the land.

Enhancement by suit to be fair and equitable.

35. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing sections, the Court shall not in any case decree any enhancement which is under the circumstances of the case unfair or inequitable.

Power to order progressive enhancement.

36. If the Court passing a decree for enhancement considers that the immediate enforcement of the decree in its full extent will be attended with hardship to the raiyat, it may direct that the enhancement shall be gradual; that is to say, that the rent shall increase yearly by degrees for any number of years not exceeding five until the limit of the enhancement decreed has been reached.

Limitation of right to bring successive enhancement suits.

37. (1) A suit instituted for the enhancement of the rent of a holding on the ground that the rate of rent paid is below the prevailing rate, or on the ground of a rise in prices, shall not be entertained if within the fifteen years next preceding its institution the rent of the holding has been enhanced by a contract made after the second day of March, 1883, or if within the said period of fifteen years the rent has been commuted under section 40, or a decree has been passed under this Act or any enactment repealed by this Act enhancing the rent on either of the grounds aforesaid or on any ground corresponding thereto or dismissing the suit on the merits.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of section 373 of the Code of Civil Procedure. IV of 1882.

Reduction of rent.

38. (1) An occupancy-raiyat holding at a money-rent may institute a suit for the reduction of his rent on the following grounds, and, except as hereinafter provided in the case of a diminution of the area of the holding, not otherwise, (namely) :—

Reduction of rent.

Reduction of rent.

(a) on the ground that the soil of the holding has without the fault of the raiyat become permanently deteriorated by a deposit of sand or other specific cause, sudden or gradual, or

(b) on the ground that there has been a fall, not due to a temporary cause, in the average local prices of staple food-crops during the currency of the present rent.

(2) In any suit instituted under this section, the Court may direct such reduction of the rent as it thinks fair and equitable.

Price-lists.

39. (1) The Collector of every district shall prepare, monthly, or at shorter intervals, periodical lists of the market-prices of staple food-crops grown in such local areas as the Local Government may from time to time direct, and shall submit them to the Board of Revenue for approval or revision.

Price lists.

Price-lists of staple food-crops.

(2) The Collector may, if so directed by the Local Government, prepare for any local area like price-lists relating to such past times as the Local Government thinks fit, and shall submit the lists so prepared to the Board of Revenue for approval or revision.

(3) The Collector shall, one month before submitting a price-list to the Board of Revenue under this section, publish it in the prescribed manner within the local area to which it relates, and if any landlord or tenant of land within the local area, within the said period of one month, presents to him in writing any objection to the list, he shall submit the same to the Board of Revenue with the list. Price-lists.

(4) The price-lists shall, when approved or revised by the Board of Revenue, be published in the official Gazette; and any manifest error in any such list discovered after its publication may be corrected by the Collector with the sanction of the Board of Revenue.

(5) The Local Government shall cause to be compiled from the periodical lists prepared under this section lists of the average prices prevailing throughout each year, and shall cause them to be published annually in the official Gazette.

(6) In any proceedings under this chapter for an enhancement or reduction of rent on the ground of a rise or fall in prices, the Court shall refer to the lists published under this section, and shall presume that the prices shown in the lists prepared for any year subsequent to the passing of this Act are correct, unless and until it is proved that they are incorrect.

(7) The Local Government, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, shall make rules for determining what are to be deemed staple food-crops in any local area and for the guidance of officers preparing price-lists under this section.

Commutation.

40. (1) Where an occupancy-raiyat pays for a holding rent in kind, or on the estimated value of a portion of the crop, or at rates varying with the crop, or partly in one of those ways and partly in another, either the raiyat or his landlord may apply to have the rent commuted to a money-rent. Commutation.

Commutation of rent payable in kind.

(2) The application may be made to the Collector or Sub-divisional Officer, or to an officer making a settlement of rents under Chapter X, or to any other officer specially authorized in this behalf by the Local Government.

(3) On the receipt of the application the officer may determine the sum to be paid as money-rent, and may order that the raiyat shall, in lieu of paying his rent in kind, or otherwise as aforesaid, pay the sum so determined.

(4) In making the determination the officer shall have regard to—

Commutation.

(b) the average value of the rent actually received by the landlord during the preceding ten years or during any shorter period for which evidence may be available; and

(c) the charges incurred by the landlord in respect of irrigation under the system of rent in kind, and the arrangements made on commutation for continuing those charges.

(5) The order shall be in writing, shall state the grounds on which it is made, and the time from which it is to take effect, and shall be subject to appeal in like manner as if it were an order made in an ordinary revenue proceeding.

(6) If the application is opposed, the officer shall consider whether under all the circumstances of the case it is reasonable to grant it, and shall grant or refuse it accordingly. If he refuses it, he shall record in writing the reasons for the refusal.

CHAPTER VI.

NON-OCCUPANCY-RAIYATS.

Application of chapter.

41. This chapter shall apply to raiyats not having a right of occupancy, who are in this Act referred to as non-occupancy-raiyats.

Initial rent of non-occupancy-raiyat.

42. When a non-occupancy-raiyat is admitted to the occupation of land, he shall become liable to pay such rent as may be agreed on between himself and his landlord at the time of his admission.

Conditions of enhancement of rent.

43. The rent of a non-occupancy-raiyat shall not be enhanced except by registered agreement or by agreement under section 46:

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent a landlord from recovering rent at the rate at which it has been actually paid for a continuous period of not less than three years immediately preceding the period for which the rent is claimed.

Grounds on which non-occupancy-raiyat may be ejected.

44. A non-occupancy-raiyat shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be liable to ejectment on one or more of the following grounds, and not otherwise (namely):—

(a) on the ground that he has failed to pay an arrear of rent;

(b) on the ground that he has used the land in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or that he has broken a condition consistent with this Act and on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between himself and his landlord, liable to be ejected;

(d) on the ground that he has refused to agree to pay a fair and equitable rent determined under section 46, or that the term for which he is entitled to hold at such a rent has expired.

Conditions of ejectment on ground of expiration of lease.

45. A suit for ejectment on the ground of the expiration of the term of a lease shall not be instituted against a non-occupancy-raiyat unless notice to quit has been served on the raiyat not less than six months before the expiration of the term, and shall not be instituted after six months from the expiration of the term.

Conditions of ejectment on ground of refusal to agree to enhancement.

46. (1) A suit for ejectment on the ground of refusal to agree to an enhancement of rent shall not be instituted against a non-occupancy-raiyat unless the landlord has tendered to the raiyat an agreement to pay the enhanced rent, and the raiyat has within three months before the institution of the suit refused to execute the agreement.

(2) A landlord desiring to tender an agreement to a raiyat under this section may file it in the office of such Court or officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf for service on the raiyat. The Court or officer shall forthwith cause it to be served on the raiyat in the prescribed manner, and when it has been so served it shall for the purposes of this section be deemed to have been tendered.

(3) If a raiyat on whom an agreement has been served under sub-section (2) executes it, and within one month from the date of service files it in the office from which it issued, it shall take effect from the commencement of the agricultural year next following.

(4) When an agreement has been executed and filed by a raiyat under sub-section (3), the Court or officer in whose office it is so filed shall forthwith cause a notice of its being so executed and filed to be served on the landlord in the prescribed manner.

(5) If the raiyat does not execute the agreement and file it under sub-section (3), he shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to have refused to execute it.

(6) If a raiyat refuses to execute an agreement tendered to him under this section, and the landlord thereupon institutes a suit to eject him, the Court shall determine what rent is fair and equitable for the holding.

(7) If the raiyat agrees to pay the rent so determined, he shall be entitled to remain in occupation of his holding at that rent for a term of five years from the date of the agreement, but on the expiration of that term shall be liable to ejectment under the conditions mentioned in the last foregoing section, unless he has acquired a right of occupancy.

(8) If the raiyat does not agree to pay the rent so determined, the Court shall pass a decree for ejectment.

(9) In determining what rent is fair and equitable, the Court shall have regard to the rents generally paid by raiyats for land of a similar description and with like advantages in the same village.

(10) A decree for ejectment passed under this section shall take effect from the end of the agricultural year in which it is passed.

Explanation of "admitted to occupation."

47. Where a raiyat has been in occupation of land and a lease is executed with a view to a continuance of his occupation, he is not to be deemed to be admitted to occupation by that lease for the purposes of this chapter, notwithstanding that the lease may purport to admit him to occupation.

CHAPTER VII.

UNDER-RAIYATS.

Limit of rent recoverable from under raiyats.

48. The landlord of an under-raiyat holding at a money-rent shall not be entitled to recover rent exceeding the rent which he himself pays by more than the following percentage of the same, (namely) :—

(a) when the rent payable by the under-raiyat is payable under a registered lease or agreement—fifty per cent.; and

(b) in any other case—twenty-five per cent.

Restriction on ejectment of under-raiyats.

49. An under-raiyat shall not be liable to be ejected by his landlord, except—

(a) on the expiration of the term of a written lease;

(b) when holding otherwise than under a written lease, at the end of the agricultural year next following the year in which a notice to quit is served upon him by his landlord.

CHAPTER VIII.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO RENT.

Rules and presumptions as to amount of rent.

Rules and presumptions as to fixity of rent.

50. (1) Where a tenure-holder or raiyat and his predecessors in interest have held at a rent or rate of rent which has not been changed from the time of the Permanent Settlement, the rent or rate of rent shall not be liable to be increased except on the ground of an alteration in the area of the tenure or holding.

Rules and presumptions as to amount of rent.

(2) If it is proved in any suit or other proceeding under this Act that either a tenure-holder or raiyat and his predecessors in interest have held at a rent or rate of rent which has not been changed during the twenty years immediately before the institution of the suit or proceeding, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, that they have held at that rent or rate of rent from the time of the Permanent Settlement:

Provided that if it is required by or under any enactment that in any local area tenancies, or any classes of tenancies, at fixed rents or rates of rent shall be registered as such on, or before, a date specified by or under the enactment, the foregoing presumption shall not after that date apply to any tenancy or, as the case may be, to any tenancy of that class in that local area unless the tenancy has been so registered.

(3) The operation of this section, so far as it relates to land held by a raiyat, shall not be affected by the fact of the land having been separated from other land which formed with it a single holding, or amalgamated with other land into one holding.

(4) Nothing in this section shall apply to a tenure held for a term of years or determinable at the will of the landlord.

Presumption as to amount of rent and conditions of holding.

51. If a question arises as to the amount of a tenant's rent or the conditions under which he holds in any agricultural year, he shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to hold at the same rent and under the same conditions as in the last preceding agricultural year.

Alteration of rent on alteration of area.

Alteration of rent in respect of alteration in area.

Alteration of rent on alteration of area.

52. (1) Every tenant shall—

(b) be entitled to a reduction of rent in respect of any deficiency proved by measurement to exist in the area of his tenure or holding as compared with the area for which rent has been previously paid by him, unless it is proved that the deficiency is due to the loss of land which was added to the area of the tenure or holding by alluvion or otherwise, and that an addition has not been made to the rent in respect of the addition to the area.

Alteration of rent on alteration of area.

(2) In determining the area for which rent has been previously paid, the Court shall, if so required by any party to the suit, have regard to—

(a) the origin and conditions of the tenancy, for instance, whether the rent was a consolidated rent for the entire tenure or holding;

(b) whether the tenant has been allowed to hold additional land in consideration of an addition to his total rent or otherwise with the knowledge and consent of the landlord;

(c) the length of time during which the tenancy has lasted without dispute as to rent or area; and

(d) the length of the measure used or in local use at the time of the origin of the tenancy as compared with that used or in local use at the time of the institution of the suit.

(3) In determining the amount to be added to the rent, the Court shall have regard to the rates payable by tenants of the same class for lands of a similar description and with similar advantages in the vicinity, and, in the case of a tenure-holder, to the profits to which he is entitled in respect of the rent of his tenure, and shall not in any case fix any rent which under the circumstances of the case is unfair or inequitable.

(4) The amount abated from the rent shall bear the same proportion to the rent previously payable as the diminution of the total yearly value of the tenure or holding bears to the previous total yearly value thereof, or, in default of satisfactory proof of the yearly value of the land lost, shall bear to the rent previously payable the same proportion as the diminution of area bears to the previous area of the tenure or holding.

Payment of rent.

Payment of rent.

Instalments of rent.

53. Subject to agreement or established usage, a money-rent payable by a tenant shall be paid in four equal instalments falling due on the last day of each quarter of the agricultural year.

54. (1) Every tenant shall pay each instalment of rent before sunset of the day on which it falls due.

(2) The payment shall, except in cases where a tenant is allowed under this Act to deposit his rent, be made at the landlord's village-office, or at such other convenient place as may be appointed in that behalf by the landlord:

Provided that the Local Government may from time to time make rules, either generally or for any specified local area, authorizing a tenant to pay his rent by postal money-order.

Payment of rent.

(3) Any instalment or part of an instalment of rent not duly paid at or before the time when it falls due shall be deemed an arrear.

Appropriation of payments.

55. (1) When a tenant makes a payment on account of rent, he may declare the year or the year and instalment to which he wishes the payment to be credited, and the payment shall be credited accordingly.

(2) If he does not make any such declaration, the payment may be credited to the account of such year and instalment as the landlord thinks fit.

(3) The receipt and counterfoil shall specify such of the several particulars shown in the form of receipt given in Schedule II to this Act as can be specified by the landlord at the time of payment:

Provided that the Local Government may, from time to time, prescribe or sanction a modified form either generally or for any particular local area or class of cases.

(4) If a receipt does not contain substantially the particulars required by this section, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to be an acquittance in full of all demands for rent up to the date on which the receipt was given.

Tenant entitled to full discharge or statement of account at close of year.

57. (1) Where a landlord admits that all rent payable by a tenant to the end of the agricultural year has been paid, the tenant shall be entitled to receive from the landlord, free of charge, within three months after the end of the year, a receipt in full discharge of all rent falling due to the end of the year, signed by the landlord.

(2) Where the landlord does not so admit, the tenant shall be entitled, on paying a fee of four annas, to receive within three months after the end of the year a statement of account specifying the several particulars shown in the form of account given in Schedule II to this Act, or in such other form as may from time to time be prescribed by the Local Government either generally or for any particular local area or class of cases.

(3) The landlord shall prepare and retain a copy of the statement containing similar particulars.

58. (1) If a landlord without reasonable cause refuses or neglects to deliver to a tenant a receipt containing the particulars prescribed by section 56 for any rent paid by the tenant, the tenant may, within three months from the date of payment, institute a suit to recover from him such penalty, not exceeding double the amount or value of that rent, as the Court thinks fit.

Penalties and fine for withholding receipts and statements of account and failing to keep counterparts.

(2) If a landlord without reasonable cause refuses or neglects to deliver to a tenant demanding the same either the receipt in full discharge or, if the tenant is not entitled to such a receipt, the statement of account for any year prescribed in section 57, the tenant may, within the next ensuing agricultural year, institute a suit to recover from him such penalty as the Court thinks fit, not exceeding double the aggregate amount or value of all rent paid by the tenant to the landlord during the year for which the receipt or account should have been delivered.

(3) If a landlord without reasonable cause fails to prepare and retain a counterfoil or copy of a receipt or statement as required by either of the said sections, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

59. (1) The Local Government shall cause to be prepared and kept for sale to landlords at all sub-divisional offices forms of receipts with counterfoils and of statements of account suitable for use under the foregoing sections.

Local Government to prepare forms of receipt and account.

(2) The forms may be sold in books with the leaves consecutively numbered or otherwise as the Local Government thinks fit.

60. Where rent is due to the proprietor, manager or mortgagee of an estate, the receipt of the person registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, as proprietor, manager or mortgagee of that estate, or of his agent authorized in that behalf, shall be a sufficient discharge for the rent; and the person liable for the rent shall not be entitled to plead in defence to a claim by the person so registered that the rent is due to any third person.

Effect of receipt by registered proprietor, manager or mortgagee.

But nothing in this section shall affect any remedy which any such third person may have against the registered proprietor, manager or mortgagee.

Deposit of rent.

61. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:—

Application to deposit rent in Court.

(a) when a tenant tenders money on account of rent and the landlord refuses to receive it or refuses to grant a receipt for it;

(b) when a tenant bound to pay money on account of rent has reason to believe, owing to a tender having been refused or a receipt withheld on a previous occasion, that the person to whom his rent is payable will not be willing to receive it and to grant him a receipt for it; Deposit of rent.

(c) when the rent is payable to co-sharers jointly, and the tenant is unable to obtain the joint receipt of the co-sharers for the money, and no person has been empowered to receive the rent on their behalf; or the tenant may present to the Court having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the rent of his tenure or holding an application in writing for permission to deposit in the Court the full amount of the money then due.

(d) when the tenant entertains a bonâ fide doubt as to who is entitled to receive the rent,

(2) The application shall contain a statement of the grounds on which it is made; shall state—in cases (a) and (b), the name of the person to whose credit the deposit is to be entered, in case (c), the names of the sharers to whom the rent is due, or of so many of them as the tenant may be able to specify, and in case (d), the names of the person to whom the rent was last paid and of the person or persons now claiming it;

XIV of 1882.

62. (1) If it appears to the Court to which an application is made under the last foregoing section that the applicant is entitled under that section to deposit the rent, it shall receive the rent and give a receipt for it under the seal of the Court.

Receipt granted by Court for rent deposited to be a valid acquittance.

(2) A receipt given under this section shall operate as an acquittance for the amount of the rent payable by the tenant and deposited as aforesaid, in the same manner and to the same extent as if that amount of rent had been received—in cases (a) and (b) of the last foregoing section, by the person specified in the application as the person to whose credit the deposit was to be entered; in case (c) of that section, by the co-sharers to whom the rent is due; and in case (d) of that section, by the person entitled to the rent.

63. (1) The Court receiving the deposit shall forthwith cause to be affixed in a conspicuous place at the Court-house a notification of the receipt thereof, containing a statement of all material particulars.

(2) If the amount of the deposit is not paid away under the next following section, within the period of fifteen days next following the date on which the notification is so affixed, the Court shall forthwith—in cases (a) and (b) of section 61, cause a notice of the receipt of the deposit to be served, free of charge, on the person specified in the application as the person to whose credit the deposit was to be entered; in case (c) of that section, cause a notice of the receipt of the deposit to be posted at the landlord's village-office or in some conspicuous place in the village in which the holding is situate; and in case (d) of that section, cause a like notice to be served, free of charge, on every person who it has reason to believe claims or is entitled to the deposit.

Payment or refund of deposit.

64. (1) The Court may pay the amount of the deposit to any person appearing to it to be entitled to the same, or may, if it thinks fit, retain the amount pending the decision of a Civil Court as to the person so entitled.

(2) The payment may, if the Local Government so direct, be made by postal money-order.

(3) If no payment is made under this section before the expiration of three years from the date on which a deposit is made, the amount deposited may, in the absence of any order of a Civil Court to the contrary, be repaid to the depositor upon his application and on his returning the receipt given by the Court with which the rent was deposited.

(4) No suit or other proceeding shall be instituted against the Secretary of State for India in Council, or against any officer of the Government, in respect of anything done by a Court receiving a deposit under the foregoing sections; but nothing in this section shall prevent any person entitled to receive the amount of any such deposit from recovering the same from a person to whom it has been paid under this section.

Arrears of rent.

Arrears of rent.

Liability to sale for arrears in case of permanent tenure, holding at fixed rates or occupancy-holding.

65. Where a tenant is a permanent tenure-holder, a raiyat holding at fixed rates or an occupancy-raiyat, he shall not be liable to ejectment for arrears of rent, but his tenure or holding shall be liable to sale in execution of a decree for the rent thereof, and the rent shall be a first charge thereon.

Ejectment for arrears in other cases.

66. (1) When an arrear of rent remains due from a tenant not being a permanent tenure-holder, a raiyat holding at fixed rates or an occupancy-raiyat, at the end of the Bengali year where that year prevails, or at the end of the month of Jeyt where the Fasli or Amli year prevails, the landlord may, whether he has obtained a decree for the recovery of the arrear or not, and whether he is entitled by the terms of any contract to eject the tenant for arrears or not, institute a suit to eject the tenant. Arrears of rent.

(2) In a suit for ejectment for an arrear of rent a decree passed in favour of the plaintiff shall specify the amount of the arrear and of the interest (if any) due thereon, and the decree shall not be executed if that amount and the costs of the suit are paid into Court within fifteen days from the date of the decree, or, when the Court is closed on the fifteenth day, on the day upon which the Court reopens.

(3) The Court may for special reasons extend the period of fifteen days mentioned in this section.

Interest on arrears.

67. An arrear of rent shall bear simple interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the expiration of that quarter of the agricultural year in which the instalment falls due to the institution of the suit.

Power to award damages on rent withheld without reasonable cause, or to defendant improperly sued for rent.

68. (1) If, in any suit brought for the recovery of arrears of rent, it appears to the Court that the defendant has, without reasonable or probable cause, neglected or refused to pay the amount of rent due by him, the Court may award to the plaintiff, in addition to the amount decreed for rent and costs, such damages, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the amount of rent decreed, as it thinks fit:

Provided that interest shall not be decreed when damages are awarded under this section.

(2) If, in any suit brought for the recovery of arrears of rent, it appears to the Court that the plaintiff has instituted the suit without reasonable or probable cause, the Court may award to the defendant, by way of damages, such sum, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the whole amount claimed by the plaintiff, as it thinks fit.

Produce-rents.

69. (1) Where rent is taken by appraisement or division of the produce,—

(a) if either the landlord or the tenant neglects to attend, either personally or by agent, at the proper time for making the appraisement or division, or

(b) if there is a dispute about the quantity, value or division of the produce,

the Collector may, on the application of either party, and on his depositing such sum on account of expenses as the Collector may require, make an order appointing such officer as he thinks fit to appraise or divide the produce.

(2) The Collector may, without such an application, make the like order in any case where in the opinion of the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate the making of the order would be likely to prevent a breach of the peace.

(3) Where a Collector makes an order under this section, he may, by order, prohibit the removal of the produce until the appraisement or division has been effected.

Procedure where officer appointed.

70. (1) When a Collector appoints an officer under the last foregoing section, the Collector may, in his discretion, direct the officer to associate with himself any other persons as assessors, and may give him instructions regarding the number, qualifications and mode of selection of those assessors (if any), and the procedure to be followed in making the appraisement or division; and the officer shall conform to the instructions so given.

(2) The officer shall, before making an appraisement or division, give notice to the landlord and tenant of the time and place at which the appraisement or division will be made; but if either the landlord or the tenant fails to attend either personally or by agent, he may proceed ex parte.

(3) When the officer has made the appraisement or division, he shall submit a report of his proceedings to the Collector.

(4) The Collector shall consider the report, and, after giving the parties an opportunity of being heard and making such enquiry (if any) as he may think necessary, shall pass such order thereon as he thinks just.

(5) The Collector may, if he thinks fit, refer any question in dispute between the parties for the decision of a Civil Court, but, subject as aforesaid, his order shall be final and shall, on application to a Civil Court by the landlord or the tenant, be enforceable as a decree.

(6) Where the officer makes an appraisement, the appraisement papers shall be filed in the Collector's office.

Rights and liabilities as to possession of crop.

71. (1) Where rent is taken by appraisement of the produce, the tenant shall be entitled to the exclusive possession of the produce.

(2) Where rent is taken by division of the produce, the tenant shall be entitled to the exclusive possession of the whole produce until it is divided, but shall not be entitled to remove any portion of the produce from the threshing-floor at such a time or in such a manner as to prevent the due division thereof at the proper time. Produce-rents.

(3) In either case the tenant shall be entitled to cut and harvest the produce in due course of husbandry without any interference on the part of the landlord.

(4) If the tenant removes any portion of the produce at such a time or in such a manner as to prevent the due appraisement or division thereof at the proper time, the produce shall be deemed to have been as full as the fullest crop of the same description appraised in the neighbourhood on similar land for that harvest.

Liability for rent on change of landlord or after transfer of tenure or holding.

Tenant not liable to transferee of landlord's interest for rent paid to former landlord, without notice of the transfer.

72. (1) A tenant shall not, when his landlord's interest is transferred, be liable to the transferee for rent which became due after the transfer and was paid to the landlord whose interest was so transferred, unless the transferee has before the payment given notice of the transfer to the tenant. Liability for rent on change of landlord or after transfer of tenure or holding.

(2) Where there is more than one tenant paying rent to the landlord whose interest is transferred, a general notice from the transferee to the tenants published in the prescribed manner shall be a sufficient notice for the purposes of this section.

Liability for rent after transfer of occupancy-holding.

73 When an occupancy-raiyat transfers his holding without the consent of the landlord, the transferor and transferee shall be jointly and severally liable to the landlord for arrears of rent accruing due after the transfer, unless and until notice of the transfer is given to the landlord in the prescribed manner.

Illegal Cesses, &c.

Abwáb, &c., illegal.

74. All impositions upon tenants under the denomination of abwáb, mahtut, or other like appellations, in addition to the actual rent, shall be illegal, and all stipulations and reservations for the payment of such shall be void. Illegal cesses, &c.

Penalty for exaction by landlord from tenant of sum in excess of the rent payable.

75. Every tenant from whom, except under any special enactment for the time being in force, any sum of money or any portion of the produce of his land is exacted by his landlord in excess of the rent lawfully payable, may, within six months from the date of the exaction, institute a suit to recover from the landlord, in addition to the amount or value of what is so exacted, such sum by way of penalty as the Court thinks fit, not exceeding two hundred rupees; or, when double the amount or value of what is so exacted exceeds two hundred rupees, not exceeding double that amount or value.

CHAPTER IX.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AS TO LANDLORDS AND TENANTS.

Improvements.

Improvements.

Definition of "improvement."

76. (1) For the purposes of this Act, the term "improvement," used with reference to a raiyat's holding, shall mean any work which adds to the value of the holding, which is suitable to the holding and consistent with the purpose for which it was let, and which, if not executed on the holding, is either executed directly for its benefit, or is, after execution, made directly beneficial to it.

(2) Until the contrary is shown, the following shall be presumed to be improvements within the meaning of this section:—

(a) the construction of wells, tanks, water-channels and other works for the storage, supply or distribution of water for the purposes of agriculture, or for the use of men and cattle employed in agriculture;

(b) the preparation of land for irrigation;

(c) the drainage, reclamation from rivers or other waters, or protection from floods, or from erosion or other damage by water, of land used for agricultural purposes, or waste-land which is culturable;

(d) the reclamation, clearance, enclosure or permanent improvement of land for agricultural purposes;

(e) the renewal or re-construction of any of the foregoing works, or alterations therein, or additions thereto; and

(f) the erection of a suitable dwelling-house for the raiyat and his family, together with all necessary out-offices.

(3) But no work executed by the raiyat of a holding shall be deemed to be an improvement for the purposes of this Act if it substantially diminishes the value of his landlord's property.

Right to make improvements in case of holding at fixed rates and occupancy-holding.

77. (1) Where a raiyat holds at fixed rates or has an occupancy-right in his holding, neither the raiyat nor his landlord shall, as such, be entitled to prevent the other from making an improvement in respect of the holding, except on the ground that he is willing to make it himself.

(2) If both the raiyat and his landlord wish to make the same improvement, the raiyat shall have the prior right to make it, unless it affects another holding or other holdings under the same landlord.

Collector to decide question as to right to make improvement, &c.

78. If a question arises between the raiyat and his landlord—

(a) as to the right to make an improvement, or the Collector may, on the application of either party, decide the question, and his decision shall be final.

(b) as to whether a particular work is an improvement,

Right to make improvements in case of non-occupancy-holding.

79. (1) A non-occupancy-raiyat shall be entitled to construct, maintain and repair a well for the irrigation of his holding, with all works incidental thereto, and to erect a suitable dwelling-house for himself and his family, with all necessary out-offices; but shall not, except as aforesaid and as next hereinafter provided, be entitled to make any other improvement in respect of his holding without his landlord's permission.

(2) A non-occupancy-raiyat who would, but for the want of his landlord's permission, be entitled to make an improvement in respect of his holding, may, if he desires that the improvement be made, deliver, or cause to be delivered, to his landlord a request in writing calling upon him to make the improvement within a reasonable time; and, if the landlord is unable or neglects to comply with that request, may make the improvement himself.

Registration of landlords' improvements.

80. (1) A landlord may, by application to such Revenue officer as the Local Government may appoint, register any improvement which he has lawfully made or which has been lawfully made at his expense or which he has assisted a tenant in making.

(2) The application shall be in such form, shall contain such information, and shall be verified in such manner, by local inquiry or otherwise, as the Local Government from time to time by rule directs.

(3) The officer receiving the application may reject it if it has not been made within twelve months—

(a) in the case of improvements made before the commencement of this Act—from the commencement of this Act;

(b) in the case of improvements made after the commencement of this Act—from the date of the completion of the work.

Application to record evidence as to improvement.

81. (1) If any landlord or tenant of a holding desires that evidence relating to any improvement made in respect thereof be recorded, he may apply to a Revenue-officer, who shall thereupon, at a time and place of which notice shall be given to the parties, record the evidence, unless he considers that there are no reasonable grounds for making the application, or it is made to appear that the subject-matter thereof is under inquiry in a Civil Court.

(2) When any matter has been recorded under this section, the record thereof shall be admissible in evidence in any subsequent proceedings between the landlord and tenant or any persons claiming under them.

Compensation for raiyats' improvements.

82. (1) Every raiyat who is ejected from his holding shall be entitled to compensation for improvements which have been made in respect thereof in accordance with this Act by him, or by his predecessor in interest, and for which compensation has not already been paid.

(2) Whenever a Court makes a decree or order for the ejectment of a raiyat, it shall determine the amount of compensation (if any) due under this section to the raiyat for improvements, and shall make the decree or order of ejectment conditional on the payment of that amount to the raiyat.

(3) No compensation under this section for an improvement shall be claimable where the raiyat has made the improvement in pursuance of a contract or under a lease binding him, in consideration of some substantial advantage to be obtained by him, to make the improvement without compensation, and he has obtained that advantage.

(4) Improvements made by a raiyat between the 2nd day of March, 1883, and the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been made in accordance with this Act.

(5) The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, make rules requiring the Court to associate with itself, for the purpose of estimating the compensation to be awarded under this section for an improvement, such number of assessors as the Local Government thinks fit, and determining the qualifications of those assessors and the mode of selecting them.

Principle on which compensation is to be estimated.

83. (1) In estimating the compensation to be awarded under the last foregoing section for an improvement, regard shall be had—

(a) to the amount by which the value, or the produce, of the holding, or the value of that produce, is increased by the improvement;

(b) to the condition of the improvement, and the probable duration of its effects;

(c) to the labour and capital required for the making of such an improvement; Improvements.

(d) to any reduction or remission of rent or any other advantage given by the landlord to the raiyat in consideration of the improvement; and

(e) in the case of a reclamation or of the conversion of unirrigated into irrigated land, to the length of time during which the raiyat has had the benefit of the improvement at an unenhanced rent.

(2) When the amount of the compensation has been assessed, the Court may, if the landlord and raiyat agree, direct that, instead of being paid wholly in money, it shall be made wholly or partly in some other way.

Acquisition of land for building and other purposes.

Acquisition of land for building and other purposes.

84. A Civil Court may, on the application of the landlord of a holding, and on being satisfied that he is desirous of acquiring the holding or part thereof for some reasonable and sufficient purpose having relation to the good of the holding or of the estate in which it is comprised, including the use of the ground as building ground, or for any religious, educational or charitable purpose, Acquisition of land for building and other purposes.

and on being satisfied on the certificate of the Collector that the purpose is reasonable and sufficient,

Sub-letting.

Restrictions on sub-letting.

85. (1) If a raiyat sub-lets otherwise than by a registered instrument, the sub-lease shall not be valid against his landlord unless made with the landlord's consent. Sub-letting.

(2) A sub-lease by a raiyat shall not be admitted to registration if it purports to create a term exceeding nine years.

(3) Where a raiyat has, without the consent of his landlord, granted a sub-lease by an instrument registered before the commencement of this Act, the sub-lease shall not be valid for more than nine years from the commencement of this Act.

Surrender and abandonment.

(2) But, notwithstanding the surrender, the raiyat shall be liable to indemnify the landlord against any loss of the rent of the holding for the agricultural year next following the date of the surrender, unless he gives to his landlord, at least three months before he surrenders, notice of his intention to surrender.

(3) When a raiyat has surrendered his holding, the Court shall in the following cases for the purposes of sub-section (2) presume, until the contrary is shown, that such notice was so given, namely :—

(a) if the raiyat takes a new holding in the same village from the same landlord during the agricultural year next following the surrender;

(b) if the raiyat ceases, at least three months before the end of the agricultural year at the end of which the surrender is made, to reside in the village in which the surrendered holding is situate.

(4) The raiyat may, if he thinks fit, cause the notice to be served through the Civil Court within the jurisdiction of which the holding or any portion of it is situate.

(5) When a raiyat has surrendered his holding, the landlord may enter on the holding and either let it to another tenant or take it into cultivation himself.

(6) When a holding is subject to an incumbrance secured by a registered instrument, the surrender of the holding shall not be valid unless it is made with the consent of the landlord and the incumbrancer.

(7) Save as provided in the last foregoing sub-section, nothing in this section shall affect any arrangement by which a raiyat and his landlord may arrange for a surrender of the whole or a part of the holding.

Abandonment.

87. (1) If a raiyat voluntarily abandons his residence without notice to his landlord and without arranging for payment of his rent as it falls due, and ceases to cultivate his holding either by himself or by some other person, the landlord may, at any time after the expiration of the agricultural year in which the raiyat so abandons and ceases to cultivate, enter on the holding and let it to another tenant or take it into cultivation himself.

(2) Before a landlord enters under this section, he shall file a notice in the prescribed form in the Collector's office stating that he has treated the holding as abandoned and is about to enter on it accordingly; and the Collector shall cause the notice to be published in such manner as the Local Government, by rule, directs.

(3) When a landlord enters under this section, the raiyat shall be entitled to institute a suit for recovery of possession of the land at any time not later than the expiration of two years, or, in the case of a non-occupancy-raiyat, six months, from the date of the publication of the notice; and thereupon the Court may, on being satisfied that the raiyat did not voluntarily abandon his holding, order recovery of possession on such terms, if any, with respect to compensation to persons injured and payment of arrears of rent as to the Court may seem just.

Surrender and abandonment.

(4) Where the whole or part of a holding has been sub-let by a registered instrument, the landlord shall, before entering under this section on the holding, offer the whole holding to the sub-lessee for the remainder of the term of the sub-lease at the rent paid by the raiyat who has ceased to cultivate the holding, and on condition of the sub-lessee paying up all arrears due from that raiyat. If the sub-lessee refuses or neglects within a reasonable time to accept the offer, the landlord may avoid the sub-lease and may enter on the holding and let it to another tenant or cultivate it himself as provided in sub-sections (1) and (2).

(2) A landlord shall not, without the consent of the tenant, or the written permission of the Collector, be entitled to measure land more than once in ten years, except in the following cases (namely) :—

(a) where the area of the tenure or holding is liable, by reason of alluvion or diluvion, to vary from year to year, and the rent payable depends on the area;

92. (1) Every measurement of land made by order of a Civil Court, or of a Revenue-officer, in any suit or proceeding between a landlord and tenant, shall be made by the acre, unless the Court or Revenue-officer directs that it be made by any other specified standard.

Provided that a co-owner of an estate or tenure shall not be entitled to apply under this section unless he is actually in possession of the interest he claims, and, if he is a co-owner of an estate, unless his name and the extent of his interest are registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876.

(a) where the landlord or a large proportion of the landlords or of the tenants applies for such an order and deposits, or gives security for, such amount, for the payment of expenses, as the Local Government directs;

123. (1) The applicant shall, at the time of filing an application under the foregoing sections, file in Court such documentary evidence (if any) as he may consider necessary for the purposes of the application. Procedure on receipt of application.

(2) The Court may, if it thinks fit, examine the applicant, and shall, with as little delay as possible, admit the application or reject it, or permit the applicant to furnish additional evidence in support of it.

(3) Where a Court cannot forthwith admit or reject an application under sub section (2), it may, if it thinks fit, make an order prohibiting the removal of the produce specified in the application pending the execution of an order for distraining the same or the rejection of the application.

(4) When an order for distraining any produce is made under this section at a considerable time before the produce is likely to be cut or gathered, the Court may suspend the execution of the order for such time as it thinks fit, and may, if it thinks fit, make a further order prohibiting the removal of the produce pending the execution of the order for distraint.

124. If an application is admitted under the last foregoing section, the Court shall depute an officer to distrain the produce specified therein, or such portion of that produce as it thinks fit; and the officer shall proceed to the place where the produce is, and distrain the produce by taking charge of it himself or placing some other person in charge of it in his behalf, and publishing a notification of the distraint in accordance with rules to that effect to be made by the High Court: Execution of order for distraint

Provided that produce which from its nature does not admit of being stored shall not be distrained under this section at any time less than twenty days before the time when it would be fit for reaping or gathering.

125. (1) The distraining officer shall, at the time of making the distraint, serve on the defaulter a written demand for the arrear due, and the costs incurred in making the distraint, with an account exhibiting the grounds on which the distraint is made. Service of demand and account.

(2) Where the distraining officer has reason to believe that a person other than the defaulter is the owner of the property distrained, he shall serve copies of the demand and account on that person likewise.

(3) The demand and account shall, if practicable, be served personally; but if a person on whom they are to be served absconds or conceals himself, or cannot otherwise be found, the officer shall affix copies of the demand and account on a conspicuous part of the outside of the house in which he usually resides.

126. (1) A distraint under this chapter shall not prevent any person from reaping, gathering or storing any produce, or doing any other act necessary for its due preservation. Right to reap, &c., produce.

(2) If the person entitled to do so fails to do so at the proper time, the distraining officer shall cause any standing crops or ungathered products distrained to be reaped or gathered when ripe, and stored in such granaries or other places as are commonly used for the purpose, or in some other convenient place in the neighbourhood, or shall do whatever else may be necessary for the due preservation of the same.

(3) In either case the distrained property shall remain in the charge of the distraining officer, or of some other person appointed by him in this behalf.

Sale proclamation to be issued unless demand is satisfied.

127. (1) Unless the demand, with all costs of the distraint, be immediately satisfied, the distraining officer shall issue a proclamation specifying the particulars of the property distrained and the demand for which it is distrained, and notifying that he will, at a place and on a day specified, not being less than three or more than seven days after the time of making the distraint, sell the distrained property by public auction:

Provided that when the crops or products distrained from their nature admit of being stored but have not yet been stored, the day of the sale shall be so fixed as to admit of their being made ready for storing before its arrival.

(2) The proclamation shall be stuck up on a conspicuous place in the village in which the land is situate for which the arrears of rent are claimed.

Place of sale.

128. The sale shall be held at the place where the distrained property is, or at the nearest place of public resort if the distraining officer is of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage.

When produce may be sold standing.

129. (1) Crops or products which from their nature admit of being stored shall not be sold before they are reaped or gathered and are ready for storing.

(2) Crops or products which from their nature do not admit of being stored may be sold before they are reaped or gathered, and the purchaser shall be entitled to enter on the land by himself, or by any person appointed by him in this behalf, and do all that is necessary for the purpose of tending and reaping or gathering them.

Manner of sale.

130. The property shall be sold by public auction, in one or more lots as the officer holding the sale may think advisable; and if the demand, with the costs of distraint and sale, is satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the distraint shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

Postponement of sale.

131. If, on the property being put up for sale, a fair price (in the estimation of the officer holding the sale) is not offered for it, and if the owner of the property, or a person authorised to act in his behalf, applies to have the sale postponed till the next day, or (if a market is held at the place of sale) the next market-day, the sale shall be postponed until that day, and shall be then completed, whatever price may be offered for the property.

Payment of purchase-money.

132. The price of every lot shall be paid at the time of sale, or as soon thereafter as the officer holding the sale directs, and in default of such payment the property shall be put up again and sold.

Certificate to be given to purchaser.

133. When the purchase-money has been paid in full, the officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and the price paid.

Proceeds of sale how to be applied.

134. (1) From the proceeds of every sale of distrained property under this chapter, the officer holding the sale shall pay the costs of the distraint and sale, calculated on a scale of charges prescribed by rules to be made, from time to time, by the Local Government in this behalf.

(2) The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the arrear for which the distress was made, with interest thereon up to the day of sale; and the surplus (if any) shall be paid to the person whose property has been sold.

Certain persons may not purchase.

135. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by, or subordinate to, such officers, are prohibited from purchasing, either directly or indirectly, any property sold by such officers.

Procedure where demand is paid before the sale.

136. (1) If at any time after a distraint has been made under this chapter, and before the sale of the distrained property, the defaulter, or the owner of the distrained property where he is not the defaulter, deposits in the Court issuing the order of distraint, or in the hands of the distraining officer, the amount specified in the demand served under section 125, with all costs which may have been incurred after the service of the demand, the Court or officer, as the case may be, shall grant a receipt for the same and the distraint shall forthwith be withdrawn.

(2) When the distraining officer receives the deposit, he shall forthwith pay it into the Court.

(3) A receipt granted under this section to an owner of distrained property not being the defaulter shall afford a full protection to him against any subsequent claim for the arrears of rent on account of which the distraint was made.

(4) After the expiration of one month from the date of a deposit being made under this section, the Court shall pay therefrom to the applicant for distraint the amount due to him, unless in the meanwhile the owner of the property distrained has instituted a suit against the applicant contesting the legality of the distraint and claiming compensation in respect of the same.

(5) A landlord shall not be deemed to have consented to his tenant's sub-letting the holding or any part thereof merely by reason of his having received an amount deposited under this section by an inferior tenant.

Amount paid by under-tenant for his lessor may be deducted from rent.

137. (1) When an inferior tenant, on his property being lawfully distrained under this chapter for the default of a superior tenant, makes any payment under the last foregoing section, he shall be entitled to deduct the amount of that payment from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and that landlord, if he is not the defaulter, shall in like manner be entitled to deduct the amount so deducted from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and so on until the defaulter is reached.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of an inferior tenant making a payment under the last foregoing section to institute a suit for the recovery from the defaulter of any portion of the amount paid which he has not deducted under this section.

Conflict between rights of superior and inferior landlords.

138. When land is sub-let, and any conflict arises under this chapter between the rights of a superior and of an inferior landlord who distrain the same property, the right of the superior landlord shall prevail.

Distraint of property which is under attachment.

139. When any conflict arises between an order for distraint issued under this chapter and an order issued by a Civil Court for the attachment or sale of the property which is the subject of the distraint, the order for distraint shall prevail; but, if the property is sold under that order, the surplus proceeds of the sale shall not be paid under section 134 to the owner of the property without the sanction of the Court by which the order of attachment or sale was issued.

Suit for compensation for wrongful distraint.

140. No appeal shall lie from any order passed by a Civil Court under this chapter; but any person whose property is distrained on an application made under section 121 in any case in which such an application is not permitted by that section may institute a suit against the applicant for the recovery of compensation.

Power for Local Government to authorize distraint in certain cases.

141. (1) When the Local Government is of opinion that in any local area or in any class of cases it would, by reason of the character of the cultivation or the habits of the cultivators, be impracticable for a landlord to realize his rent by an application under this chapter, to the Civil Court, it may, from time to time, by order, authorize the landlord to distrain, by himself or his agent, any produce for the distraint of which he would be entitled to apply under this chapter to the Civil Court:

Provided that every person distraining any produce under such authorization shall proceed in the manner prescribed by section 124, and shall forthwith give notice, in such form as the High Court may, by rule, prescribe, to the Civil Court having jurisdiction to entertain an application for distraining the produce, and that Court shall, with no avoidable delay, depute an officer to take charge of the produce distrained.

(2) When an officer of the Court has taken charge of any distrained produce under this section, the proceedings shall thereafter be conducted in all respects as if he had distrained it under section 124.

(3) The Local Government may at any time rescind any order made by it under this section.

Power for High Court to make rules.

142. The High Court may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act for regulating the procedure in all cases under this chapter.

CHAPTER XIII.

JUDICIAL PROCEDURE.

Power to modify Civil Procedure Code in its application to landlord and tenant suits.

143. (1) The High Court may, from time to time, with the approval of the Governor General in Council, make rules consistent with this Act declaring that any portions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not apply to suits between landlord and tenant as such or to any specified classes of such suits, or shall apply to them subject to modifications specified in the rules. XIV of 1882.

(2) Subject to any rules so made, and subject also to the other provisions of this Act, the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to all such suits. XIV of 1882.

Jurisdiction in proceedings under Act.

144. (1) The cause of action in all suits between landlord and tenant as such shall, for the purposes of the Code of Civil Procedure, be deemed to have arisen within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Civil Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the possession of the tenure or holding in connection with which the suit is brought. XIV of 1882.

(2) When under this Act a Civil Court is authorized to make an order on the application of a landlord or a tenant, the application shall be made to the Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the possession of the tenure or holding in connection with which the application is brought.

Bengal Tenancy Act.

(Chapter XIII.—Judicial Procedure.—Secs. 145-151.)

Náibs or gumáshtas to be recognized agents.

145. Every náib or gumáshta of a landlord empowered in this behalf by a written authority under the hand of the landlord shall, for the purposes of every such suit or application, be deemed to be the recognized agent of the landlord within the meaning of the Code of Civil Procedure, notwithstanding that the landlord may reside within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is to be instituted or is pending, or in which the application is made. XIV of 1882.

Special register of suits.

146. The particulars referred to in section 58 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall, in the case of such suits, instead of being entered in the register of civil suits prescribed by that section, be entered in a special register to be kept by each Civil Court, in such form as the Local Government may, from time to time, prescribe in this behalf. XIV of 1882.

Successive rent-suits.

147. Subject to the provisions of section 373 of the Code of Civil Procedure, where a landlord has instituted a suit against a raiyat for the recovery of any rent of his holding, the landlord shall not institute another suit against him for the recovery of any rent of that holding until after three months from the date of the institution of the previous suit. XIV of 1882.

Procedure in rent-suits.

148. The following rules shall apply to suits for the recovery of rent:—

(a) sections 121 to 127 (both inclusive), 129, 305, and 320 to 326 (both inclusive) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not apply to any such suit: XIV of 1882.

(b) the plaint shall contain, in addition to the particulars specified in section 50 of the Code of Civil Procedure, a statement of the situation, designation, extent and boundaries of the land held by the tenant; or, where the plaintiff is unable to give the extent or boundaries, in lieu thereof a description sufficient for identification: XIV of 1882.

(c) the summons shall be for the final disposal of the suit, unless the Court is of opinion that the summons should be for the settlement of issues only:

(d) the service of the summons may, if the High Court by rule, either generally, or specially for any local area, so directs, be effected, either in addition to, or in substitution for, any other mode of service by forwarding the summons by post in a letter addressed to the defendant and registered under Part III of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866; XIV of 1866.

when a summons is so forwarded in a letter, and it is proved that the letter was duly posted and registered, the Court may presume that the summons has been duly served:

(e) a written statement shall not be filed without the leave of the Court:

(f) the rules for recording the evidence of witnesses prescribed by section 180 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply, whether an appeal is allowed or not: XIV of 1882

(g) the Court may, when passing the decree, order on the oral application of the decree-holder the execution thereof, unless it is a decree for ejectment for arrears:

(h) notwithstanding anything contained in section 232 of the Code of Civil Procedure, an application for the execution of a decree for arrears obtained by a landlord shall not be made by an assignee of the decree unless the landlord's interest in the land has become and is vested in him. XIV of 1882

Payment into Court of money admitted to be due to third person.

149. (1) When a defendant admits that money is due from him on account of rent, but pleads that it is due not to the plaintiff but to a third person, the Court shall, except for special reasons to be recorded in writing, refuse to take cognizance of the plea unless the defendant pays into Court the amount so admitted to be due.

(2) Where such a payment is made, the Court shall forthwith cause notice of the payment to be served on the third person.

(3) Unless the third person within three months from the receipt of the notice institutes a suit against the plaintiff and therein obtains an order restraining payment out of the money, it shall be paid out to the plaintiff on his application.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of any person to recover from the plaintiff money paid to him under sub-section (3).

Payment into Court of money admitted to be due to landlord.

150. When a defendant admits that money is due from him to the plaintiff on account of rent, but pleads that the amount claimed is in excess of the amount due, the Court shall, except for special reasons to be recorded in writing, refuse to take cognizance of the plea unless the defendant pays into Court the amount so admitted to be due.

Provision as to payment of portion of money.

151. When a defendant is liable to pay money into Court under either of the two last foregoing sections, if the Court thinks that there are sufficient reasons for so ordering, it may take cognizance of the defendant's plea on his paying into Court such reasonable portion of the money as the Court directs.

Court to grant receipt.

152. When a defendant pays money into Court under either of the said sections, the Court shall give the defendant a receipt, and the receipt so given shall operate as an acquittance in the same manner and to the same extent as if it had been given by the plaintiff or the third person as the case may be.

Appeals in rent-suits.

153. An appeal shall not lie from any decree or order passed, whether in the first instance or on appeal, in any suit instituted by a landlord for the recovery of rent where—

(a) the decree or order is passed by a District Judge, Additional Judge or Subordinate Judge, and the amount claimed in the suit does not exceed one hundred rupees, or

(b) the decree or order is passed by any other judicial officer specially empowered by the Local Government to exercise final jurisdiction under this section, and the amount claimed in the suit does not exceed fifty rupees;

unless in either case the decree or order has decided a question relating to title to land or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, or a question of a right to enhance or vary the rent of a tenant, or a question of the amount of rent annually payable by a tenant:

Provided that the District Judge may call for the record of any case in which a judicial officer as aforesaid has passed a decree or order to which this section applies, if it appears that the judicial officer has exercised a jurisdiction not vested in him by law, or has failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or has acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity; and may pass such order as the District Judge thinks fit.

Date from which decree for enhancement takes effect.

154. A decree for enhancement of rent under this Act, if passed in a suit instituted in the first eight months of an agricultural year, shall ordinarily take effect on the commencement of the agricultural year next following; and, if passed in a suit instituted in the last four months of the agricultural year, shall ordinarily take effect on the commencement of the agricultural year next but one following; but nothing in this section shall prevent the Court from fixing, for special reasons, a later date from which any such decree shall take effect.

155. (1) A suit for the ejectment of a tenant, on the ground—

(a) that he has used the land in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or shall not be entertained unless the landlord has served, in the prescribed manner, a notice on the tenant specifying the particular misuse or breach complained of, and, where the misuse or breach is capable of remedy, requiring the tenant to remedy the same, and, in any case, to pay reasonable compensation for the misuse or breach, and the tenant has failed to comply within a reasonable time with that request.

(b) that he has broken a condition on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between him and the landlord, liable to ejectment,

(2) A decree passed in favour of a landlord in any such suit shall declare the amount of compensation which would reasonably be payable to the plaintiff for the misuse or breach, and whether, in the opinion of the Court, the misuse or breach is capable of remedy, and shall fix a period during which it shall be open to the defendant to pay that amount to the plaintiff, and, where the misuse or breach is declared to be capable of remedy, to remedy the same.

(3) The Court may, from time to time, for special reasons, extend a period fixed by it under sub-section (2).

(4) If the defendant, within the period or extended period (as the case may be) fixed by the Court under this section, pays the compensation mentioned in the decree, and, where the misuse or breach is declared by the Court to be capable of remedy, remedies the misuse or breach to the satisfaction of the Court, the decree shall not be executed.

Rights of ejected raiyats in respect of crops and land prepared for sowing.

156. The following rules shall apply in the case of every raiyat ejected from a holding:—

(a) when the raiyat has, before the date of his ejectment, sown or planted crops in any land comprised in the holding, he shall be entitled, at the option of the landlord, either to retain possession of that land and to use it for the purpose of tending and gathering in the crops, or to receive from the landlord the value of the crops as estimated by the Court executing the decree for ejectment;

(b) when the raiyat has, before the date of his ejectment, prepared for sowing any land comprised in his holding, but has not sown or planted crops in that land, he shall be entitled to receive from the landlord the value of the labour and capital expended by him in so preparing the land, as estimated by the Court executing the decree for ejectment, together with reasonable interest on that value;

(c) but a raiyat shall not be entitled to retain possession of any land or receive any sum in respect thereof under this section where, after the commencement of proceedings by the landlord for his ejectment, he has cultivated or prepared the land contrary to local usage;

(d) if the landlord elects under this section to allow a raiyat to retain possession of the land, the raiyat shall pay to the landlord, for the use and occupation of the land during the period for which he is allowed to retain possession of the same, such rent as the Court executing the decree for ejectment may deem reasonable.

Power for Court to fix fair rent as alternative to ejectment.

157. When a plaintiff institutes a suit for the ejectment of a trespasser he may, if he thinks fit, claim as alternative relief that the defendant be declared liable to pay for the land in his possession a fair and equitable rent to be determined by the Court, and the Court may grant such relief accordingly.

Application to determine incidents of tenancy.

158. (1) The Court having jurisdiction to determine a suit for the possession of land may, on the application of either the landlord or the tenant of the land, determine all or any of the following matters, (namely):—

(a) the situation, quantity and boundaries of the land;

(b) the name and description of the tenant thereof (if any);

(c) the class to which he belongs, that is to say, whether he is a tenure-holder, raiyat holding at fixed rates, occupancy-raiyat, non-occupancy-raiyat, or under-raiyat, and, if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanent tenure-holder or not and whether his rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of his tenure; and

(d) the rent payable by him at the time of the application.

(2) If, in the opinion of the Court, any of these matters cannot be satisfactorily determined without a local inquiry, the Court may direct that a local inquiry be held under Chapter XXV of the Code of Civil Procedure by such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may authorize in that behalf by rule made under section 392 of the said Code.

XIV of 1882.

(3) The order on any application under this section shall have the effect of, and be subject to the like appeal as, a decree.

CHAPTER XIV.

SALE FOR ARREARS UNDER DECREE.

General powers of purchaser as to avoidance of incumbrances.

159. Where a tenure or holding is sold in execution of a decree for arrears due in respect thereof, the purchaser shall take subject to the interests defined in this chapter as "protected interests", but with power to annul the interests defined in this chapter as "incumbrances": Provided as follows:—

(a) a registered and notified incumbrance within the meaning of this chapter shall not be so annulled except in the case hereinafter mentioned in that behalf;

Protected interests.

160. The following shall be deemed to be protected interests within the meaning of this chapter:—

(a) any under-tenure existing from the time of the Permanent Settlement;

(b) any under-tenure recognized by the settlement-proceedings of any current temporary settlement as a tenure at a rent fixed for the period of that settlement;

(c) any lease of land whereon dwelling-houses, manufactories or other permanent buildings have been erected, or permanent gardens, plantations, tanks, canals, places of worship or burning or burying grounds have been made;

(d) any right of occupancy;

(e) the right of a non-occupancy-raiyat to hold for five years at a rent fixed under Chapter VI by a Court, or under Chapter X by a Revenue-officer;

(f) any right conferred on an occupancy-raiyat to hold at a rent which was a fair and reasonable rent at the time the right was conferred; and

(g) any right or interest which the landlord at whose instance the tenure or holding is sold, or his predecessor in title, has expressly and in writing given the tenant for the time being permission to create.

Meaning of "incumbrance" and "registered and notified incumbrance."

161. For the purposes of this chapter—

(a) the term "incumbrance", used with reference to a tenancy, means any lien, sub-tenancy, easement or other right or interest created by the tenant on his tenure or holding or in limitation of his own interest therein, and not being a protected interest as defined in the last foregoing section;

(b) the term "registered and notified incumbrance", used with reference to a tenure or holding sold or liable to sale in execution of a decree for an arrear of rent due in respect thereof, means an incumbrance created by a registered instrument of which a copy has, not less than three months before the accrual of the arrear, been served on the landlord in manner hereinafter provided.

Application for sale of tenure or holding.

162. When a decree has been passed for an arrear of rent due for a tenure or holding, and the decree-holder applies under section 235 of the Code of Civil Procedure for the attach- XIV ment and sale of the tenure or holding in execution of the decree, he shall produce a statement showing the parganá, estate and village in which the land comprised in the tenure or holding is situate, the yearly rent payable for the same and the total amount recoverable under the decree.

XIV of 1882.

Order of attachment and proclamation of sale to be issued simultaneously.

163. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, when the decree-holder makes the application mentioned in the last foregoing section, the Court shall, if under section 245 of the said Code it admits the application and orders execution of the decree as applied for, issue simultaneously the order of attachment and the proclamation required by section 287 of the said Code.

(2) The proclamation shall, in addition to stating and specifying the particulars mentioned in section 287 of the said Code, announce—

(a) in the case of a tenure or a holding of a raiyat holding at fixed rates, that the tenure or holding will first be put up to auction subject to the registered and notified incumbrances, and will be sold subject to those incumbrances if the sum bid is sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs, and that otherwise it will, if the decree-holder so desires, be sold on a subsequent day, of which due notice will be given, with power to annul all incumbrances; and

(b) in the case of an occupancy-holding, that the holding will be sold with power to annul all incumbrances.

(3) The proclamation shall, besides being made in the manner prescribed by section 289 of the said Code, be published by fixing up a copy thereof in a conspicuous place on the land comprised in the tenure or holding ordered to be sold, and shall also be published in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, direct in this behalf.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 290 of the said Code, the sale shall not, without the consent in writing of the judgment-debtor, take place until after the expiration of at least thirty days, calculated from the date on which the copy of the proclamation has been fixed up on the land comprised in the tenure or holding ordered to be sold.

Sale of tenure or holding subject to registered and notified incumbrances, and effect thereof.

164. (1) When a tenure or a holding at fixed rates has been advertised for sale under the last foregoing section, it shall be put up to auction, subject to registered and notified incumbrances; and, if the bidding reaches a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs, including the costs of sale, the tenure or holding shall be sold subject to such incumbrances.

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by section 167, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance upon the tenure or holding not being a registered and notified incumbrance.

Sale of tenure or holding with power to avoid all incumbrances, and effect thereof.

165. (1) If the bidding for a tenure or a holding at fixed rates put up to auction under the last foregoing section does not reach a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs as aforesaid, and if the decree-holder thereupon desires that the tenure or holding be sold with power to avoid all incumbrances, the officer holding the sale shall adjourn the sale and make a fresh proclamation under section 289 of the Code of Civil Procedure, announcing that the tenure or holding will be put up to auction and sold with power to avoid all incumbrances upon a future day specified therein, not less than fifteen or more than thirty days from the date of the postponement; and upon that day the tenure or holding shall be put up to auction and sold with power to avoid all incumbrances. XIV of 1882.

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by section 167, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance on the tenure or holding.

Sale of occupancy-holding with power to avoid all incumbrances, and effect thereof.

166. (1) When an occupancy-holding has been advertised for sale under section 163, it shall be put up to auction and sold with power to avoid all incumbrances.

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by the next following section, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance on the holding.

Procedure for annulling incumbrances under the foregoing sections.

167. (1) A purchaser having power to annul an incumbrance under any of the foregoing sections and desiring to annul the same, may, within one year from the date of the sale or the date on which he first has notice of the incumbrance, whichever is later, present to the Collector an application in writing, requesting him to serve on the incumbrancer a notice declaring that the incumbrance is annulled.

(2) Every such application must be accompanied by such fee for the service of the notice as the Board of Revenue may fix in this behalf.

(3) When an application for service of a notice is made to the Collector in manner prescribed by this section, he shall cause the notice to be served in compliance therewith, and the incumbrance shall be deemed to be annulled from the date on which it is so served.

(4) When a tenure or holding is sold in execution of a decree for arrears due in respect thereof, and there is on the tenure or holding a protected interest of the kind specified in section 160, clause (c), the purchaser may, if he has power under this chapter to avoid all incumbrances, sue to enhance the rent of the land which is the subject of the protected interest. On proof that the land is held at a rent which was not at the time the lease was granted a fair rent, the Court may enhance the rent to such amount as appears to be fair and equitable.

This sub-section shall not apply to land which has been held for a term exceeding twelve years at a fixed rent equal to the rent of good arable land.

Bengal Tenancy Act.

(Chapter XIV.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—Secs. 168-171.)

Power to direct that occupancy-holdings be dealt with under foregoing sections as tenures.

168. (1) The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, direct that occupancy-holdings or any specified class of occupancy-holdings in any local area put up for sale in execution of decrees for rent due on them shall, before being put up with power to avoid all incumbrances, be put up subject to registered and notified incumbrances, and may by like notification rescind any such direction.

(2) While any such direction remains in force in respect of any local area, all occupancy-holdings, or, as the case may be, occupancy-holdings of the specified class in that local area, shall, for the purposes of sale under the foregoing sections of this chapter, be treated in all respects as if they were tenures.

Rules for disposal of the sale-proceeds.

169. (1) In disposing of the proceeds of a sale under this chapter, the following rules, instead of those prescribed by section 295 of the Code of Civil Procedure, shall be observed, that is to say :—

XIV of 1882

(a) there shall first be paid to the decree-holder the costs incurred by him in bringing the tenure or holding to sale;

(b) there shall, in the next place, be paid to the decree-holder the amount due to him under the decree in execution of which the sale was made;

(c) if there remains a balance after these sums have been paid, there shall be paid to the decree-holder therefrom any rent which may have fallen due to him in respect of the tenure or holding between the institution of the suit and the date of the sale;

(d) the balance (if any) remaining after the payment of the rent mentioned in clause (c) shall, upon the expiration of two months from the confirmation of the sale, be paid to the judgment-debtor upon his application.

(2) If the judgment-debtor disputes the decree-holder's right to receive any sum on account of rent under clause (c), the Court shall determine the dispute, and the determination shall have the force of a decree.

Tenure or holding to be released from attachment only on payment into Court of amount of decree with costs, or on confession of satisfaction by decree-holder.

170. (1) Sections 278 to 283 (both inclusive) of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not apply to a tenure or holding attached in execution of a decree for arrears due thereon.

(2) When an order for the sale of a tenure or holding in execution of such a decree has been made, the tenure or holding shall not be released from attachment unless, before it is knocked down to the auction-purchaser, the amount of the decree, including the costs decreed, together with the costs incurred in order to the sale, is paid into Court, or the decree-holder makes an application for the release of the tenure or holding on the ground that the decree has been satisfied out of Court.

(3) The judgment-debtor or any person having in the tenure or holding any interest voidable on the sale may pay money into Court under this section.

171. (1) When any person having, in a tenure or holding advertised for sale under this chapter, an interest which would be voidable upon the sale, pays into Court the amount requisite to prevent the sale,—

(a) the amount so paid by him shall be deemed to be a debt bearing interest at twelve per centum per annum and secured by a mortgage of the tenure or holding to him;

(b) his mortgage shall take priority of every other charge on the tenure or holding other than a charge for arrear of rent; and

172. When a tenure or holding is advertised for sale under this chapter in execution of a decree against a superior tenant defaulting, and an inferior tenant, whose interest would be voidable upon the sale, pays money into Court in order to prevent the sale, he may, in addition to any other remedy provided for him by law, deduct the whole or any portion of the amount so paid from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord; and that landlord, if he is not the defaulter, may in like manner deduct the amount so deducted from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and so on until the defaulter is reached.

(3) When a judgment-debtor purchases by himself or through another person a tenure or holding so sold, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the decree-holder or any other person interested in the sale, by order set aside the sale, and the costs of the application and order, and any deficiency of price which may happen on the re-sale, and all expenses attending it, shall be paid by the judgment-debtor.

Application by judgment-debtor to set aside sale.

174. (1) Where a tenure or holding is sold for an arrear of rent due thereon, then, at any time within thirty days from the date of sale, the judgment-debtor may apply to have the sale set aside, on his depositing in Court, for payment to the decree-holder, the amount recoverable under the decree with costs, and, for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to five per centum of the purchase-money.

(2) If such deposit is made within the thirty days, the Court shall pass an order setting aside the sale, and the provisions of section 315 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall apply in the case of a sale so set aside:

ARRACAN COAST.

Cheduba Strait.

THE following description of, and directions for, Cheduba Strait, resulting from the recent survey on the coast of Burma, have been furnished by Commander A. Carpenter, R.N., Commanding Her Majesty's Indian Marine Surveying Steamer Investigator.

CHEDUBA ISLAND.—NERBUDDA SHOAL.—A dangerous rocky shoal, 5 miles in length, N.-E. by N. and S.-W. by S., lies with its North-Eastern extreme S.-E. by E. ¾ E. 4 miles from Unguan or Tree island. It has several shoal heads upon it, the least water being 9 feet near its North-Eastern extreme. To pass to the westward of the shoal, do not bring Unguan island to the westward of North.

SHOALS.—A small shoal of 2½ fathoms rock lies 2½ miles N. by W. ¾ W. of Unguan island: there are 7 to 8 fathoms round about it. Two small patches of 4 fathoms and 5½ fathoms rock lie 8 miles and 6 miles, respectively, N.-W. by N. from Beacon island in the vicinity of the reported breakers of 1878.

Caution.—A vessel proceeding up or down the coast of Arracan, outside Cheduba island, should not bring the west coast of Cheduba to bear to the southward of S.-E. by S. whilst in that vicinity. There are to be found regular depths of 10 to 11 fathoms between these shoals and Beacon island.

PORT CHILDERS.—This port should on no account be entered.

CHEDUBA STRAIT.—DIRECTIONS FOR NORTHWARD.—Follow the coast at a distance of 2 to 3 miles until the highest point of Ramree hills, overlooking the Strait, bears E. by S., when steer E. by S. ½ S for the dome-shaped hillock which marks the South extreme of the range. When Sandy point on Chebuda island bears S. ½ W., haul to S.-S.-E. ½ E., which course will lead down in not less than 3½ fathoms at low-water.

DIRECTIONS FOR SOUTHWARD.—Pass to the eastward of Round island at 1 to 2 miles distance, and when it bears West steer N.-N.-W. ½ W. for the West extreme of the land then visible ahead: when the summit of the Ramree hills bears E. ½ N., haul to W. by N. ½ N., and keep the dome-shaped hillock astern.

The Bearings are Magnetic.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,
ARTHUR W. STIFFE, Captain, I M.,
Port Officer of Calcutta.

PORT OFFICE, Calcutta, the 12th March 1885.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, GENERAL (MARINE) DEPARTMENT.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.—(No. 12).

BAY OF BENGAL—ORISSA COAST.

Dhamra River.

THE following description of, and directions for, Dhamra river, resulting from the recent survey on the coast of Orissa, have been furnished by Commander A. Carpenter, R.N., Commanding Her Majesty's Indian Marine Surveying Steamer Investigator.

PALMYRAS SHOALS.—These shoals extend from the Palmyras buoy, which marks their N.-E. extreme, for 7¾ miles to the Southward, or to latitude 20° 40′ 30″ N. They have protruded slightly since last surveyed, and the Outer edge is now in longitude 87° 12′ 40″ E.: 4½ and 3½ fathoms, hard sand, will now be found one mile and 2½ miles, respectively, S.-S.-E. of the buoy with 11 fathoms outside them.

DIRECTIONS.—A vessel proceeding from the Hooghly river to False Point should not bring the Palmyras buoy to bear North of N.-N.-W. until 5 miles South of it, when she may shape course for False Point without getting less than 5½ fathoms.

DHAMRA RIVER.—OUTER BAR BUOYS.—H. buoy has been removed 3 cables N.-E. by E of its former position, and now lies 1½ miles N.-E. ½ E. from Shortt's beacon.

F. buoy has been removed 3¾ cables N.-N.-E. of its former position, and now lies 1¾ miles N. ½ W. from Shortt's beacon.

D. buoy has been shifted 1¾ cables N.-N.-W. of the former position.

SHOAL.—A small shoal, of 8 feet at low-water lies 3½ cables E ½ N. of G. buoy. The least water will now be got by entering with G. and D. buoys in line passing to the northward of G. buoy.

SHOAL SPIT.—A shoal spit has projected into the channel, in the Dhamra river, from the West end of Kalibanj island towards the Celerity buoy.

DIRECTIONS.—Keep the north bank of the Dhamra river till the Celerity buoy is in line with the perch on the opposite bank ¾ miles farther up, when strike across to the other bank, passing close to the buoy on either side. This leads over the ridge in 10 feet at present, but it may possibly change at different seasons of the year.

PILOTS' RIDGE.—Her Majesty's Indian Marine Surveying Steamer Investigator had lately completely re-sounded the Pilot's Ridge: it is reported that there is no material change in the depths, and the Admiralty Chart No. 814 (or Mr. Carrington's Indian Survey Chart No. 115) may be relied upon, with the exception of the shallow soundings near the Eastern Channel and the Mutla lightships.

PILOTS' RIDGE BUOY.—This buoy now lies in latitude 20° 49′ 30″ N., longitude 87° 39′ 30″ E.

The Bearings are Magnetic.

By direction of the Government of Bengal,

ARTHUR W. STIFFE, Captain, I.M.,
Port Officer of Calcutta.

PORT OFFICE, Calcutta, the 12th March 1885.

SURVEY OF INDIA.

NOTIFICATION.

Surveyor-General's Office, Calcutta, 2nd March 1885.

THE following revised rules and regulations for the issue and receipt of instruments from the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Office are published for the information and guidance of public officers.

By order,

M. W. ROGERS, Major, R.E.,
Assistant Surveyor-General, in charge Surveyor-General's Office.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

The Calcutta Government Mathematical Instrument Office supplies new and serviceable instruments, &c., and repairs, examines, and adjusts, &c., old ones, on book debit, on the public service. As a general rule, new instruments are not supplied, if serviceable instruments of the class required are available for issue.

2. All applications for instruments on the public service must be submitted in following indent form, which is not required in duplicate, the specification of instruments and particular purposes for which required being made as full as possible. Indent forms may be had on application being made to the Mathematical Instrument Office:—

Indent No. on the Calcutta Mathematical Instrument Office for instruments required for the use of dated 18 .

Description of instruments.	Quantity or number in use or in store.	Quantity or number indented for.	Purpose for which required	Average cost as per printed list.		How and where to be despatched.
				Rs.	A.	The address, which should be affixed to the parcels or cases, to be distinctly given in full. Abbreviations sometimes lead to mistakes.

I do hereby certify that the articles specified in this indent are indispensably necessary for the purposes set forth, according to the best of my knowledge and belief, after the most careful examination.

Recommended.

Countersignature of approving authority.

Signature of Indenting Officer, with designation of appointment in full.

3. All indents must be duly approved and countersigned by the heads of departments, or of the Government under which indenting officers may be serving, before they can be supplied, viz.—

Survey of India Dept., Trig. Branch,	by Deputy Surveyor-General	or by Surveyor-General.
Do. do. Top. do.	,, do. do.
Do. do. Rev. do.	,, do do.
Settlement Department	,, Boards of Revenue.
Public Works Department	,, Superintending Engineers or higher authorities.
Telegraph Department	,, Director-General of Telegraphs.
Marine Department	,, Superintendent of Marine.
Quartermaster-General's Department and all military indents except artillery	,, Quartermaster-General of the Army.
Artillery	,, Officers in command of batteries and districts.
All other Civil Officers or Military Officers in civil employ	,, Secretary to Governments under which serving, or Secretary to Board of Revenue.
Forest Department	,, Provincial Conservators.
Meteorological Department	,, Meteorological Reporter to Government of India.

And they should be addressed to the Officer in charge Government Mathematical Instrument Office, No. 9, Park Street, Calcutta.

4. The mode of transit and address, or station to which the instruments are to be consigned, must invariably be specified on indents in the proper column. Indents should not be accompanied with forwarding letters, unless more explanation is necessary than can be given on the face of the indent.

5. All officers, to whom instruments and other stores are issued on public service, have to account for them to the officer to whom their accounts are rendered, in such manner as may be by him directed

6. All instruments, and component parts of instruments, when no longer required, should be at once returned to the Mathematical Instrument Office, except when the Officer in charge considers that their transit charges may nearly equal, or exceed, their actual value as material; in which case, he should refer to the officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, for instructions as to their disposal. No unused instruments should be allowed to accumulate in any office, as, if returned, they can be utilised for re-issue.

7. When instruments are considered unserviceable by any officer, a survey should be held on them by a Committee of Government officers, whose report should be forwarded to the Assistant Surveyor-General, Mathematical Instrument Office, who will issue instructions as to which of the articles are to be forwarded to the depôt, Calcutta, and which should be sold by public auction to the best advantage. The proceeds of all articles sold by auction must be deposited in the nearest treasury, and the treasury receipt, with auction account sale and copy of the Committee report, should be attached to the next cash account current, in which the transaction should appear both on the debit and credit sides.

8. When instruments are received for final deposit in store, a receipt will be granted for them by the officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, to enable officers, from whom received, to remove them from their debit, by forwarding the receipt to the Comptroller of Indian Treasuries, with the half-yearly or other returns of stores submitted to him.

9. All Government instruments, &c.. requiring repair, &c, should be forwarded with an official letter or repair indent. If no longer required and intended to be deposited in store, it should be specifically mentioned.

10. All instruments, &c., received from England and issued on book debit on the public service will be charged at their invoice cost, plus a percentage for landing, storing, and examining and despatching them, &c.

11. Instruments made in the workshops and those purchased locally for issue on book debit will be charged at the scheduled rates. Instruments purchased locally for officers not entitled to receive them on book debit will be charged at cost price, plus 10 per cent for incidental charges.

12. Instruments, when they can be spared, are sometimes issued to officers in the service of Government on payment of the cost value, plus 10 per cent., and instruments, the private property of officers, are repaired, if necessary, on like terms. In such cases the amount must be remitted to the officer in charge, Mathematical Instrument Office, before the instruments can be despatched.

13. Instruments returned into store will be valued according to their condition.

14. It is particularly requested that sizes and sorts of instruments, length of scales, how divided, and purposes for which required, and generally any information which will guide this office in knowing, without further reference, the exact wants of the indenting officer, be put as far as possible on face of indent, instead of in covering letters.

15. The following list shews nomenclature of the various descriptions of instruments ordinarily kept in store of this office for issue on public service. This nomenclature should be adopted in all indents.

16. To enable the indenting officer, as well as the officer who countersigns and finally passes an indent to know the cost involved thereby, the average ordinary price of each description of instrument is also given in the annexed list. Indenting officers must invariably enter the value of instruments required by them in column of indent allotted to the purpose.

17. The supply should be regulated, not according what an officer would like to have, but by what is absolutely necessary.

MATHL. INSTT. OFFICE,
1st March 1885.

† Many scales require a careful description. If there is the least doubt as to the correct denomination of a scale, the indenting officer should specify the number of divisions and sub-divisions in a given measurement, and the method of numbering for instance, 12" divided into 60 parts, numbered successively from 1 to 60, each part to be sub-divided into two.
